Land annexed for power station use

by DOUG DUSIK
Lakeland Newspapers

One month and nothing changed later, the Village Board approved annexing two acres of land that will house a Commonwealth Edison electric power substation.

The vote was continued for 30 days after several Lake Villa residents requested the Board to hold off until they could see what could be done about stopping Com Ed from stringing high-power lines through their community to feed the Antioch substation.

The proposed line of 138,000-volt wires would follow the Wisconsin Central Railroad tracks through the center of Lake Villa and along Rte. 83 to the location of the substation near Loon Lake.

The Lake Villa residents have said they do not want the power lines running through their community because of health and aesthetic considerations.

For 90 minutes on Aug. 19, the issue was debated between the Antioch Village Board, Com Ed and Lake Villa residents. Finally, the hearing was continued.

On Monday, the hearing ran shorter before a comparatively smaller group of people.

In fact, it was the Village Board that did most of the questioning and speaking.

"What was the final outcome of your meetings with Lake Villa?" Trustee Wayne Foresta asked.

Ron Crawford, Com Ed's Waukegan district manager, said that after researching alternatives, he concluded that the original plan of stringing the lines through Lake Villa was the best.

When asked what Com Ed was doing to minimize the effects of eletromagnetic fields (EMF), believed by some to be a cause of cancer in children living near high-power wires, Crawford said the company was "modifying the placement and phasing of conductors to minimize

Tax cap won't change assessed valuations

Many people are aware of the much publicized "Property Tax Extension Limitation Act," also known as the "Five Percent Tax Cap." This Act was intended to end the cycle of spiraling property taxes. This Act does not, however, limit changes in assessed valuation. The values published herein may or may not have increased over five percent. The "limitation" which the Act provides for applies only to the extension of taxes by district. It limits the dollars available by district in 1992 to a maximum of five percent over the dollars available in 1991, excluding the increase attributable to "new property." This five percent tax cap does not include certain bond debts and/or referenda approved by the voters.

The first time a taxpayer will realize the benefits of the "Property Tax Extension Limitation Act" will be on the 1991 tax bills issued in 1992.

ANTIOCH ASSESSMENT ROLL FOR 1991

Changes in the assessment roll by the Township Assessor of Antioch Township, as certified by the Lake County Supervisor of Assessments, appear in this issue of the Antioch News Reporter. Property owners in Antioch Township should make it a point to check the amount of their assessments.

Any property owner who objects to the amount of their assessment should file a complaint in writing, on the prescribed form, with the Board of Review, 18 North County Street, Room 603, Waukegan, IL 60085-4339. Property owners will have 30 (thirty) days from the date of publication within which to file a complaint regarding their assessment.

Dist. 46 bond bid to go before voters

GRAYSLAKE—Grayslake Dist. 46 will need voter approval for plans to sell $2 million in working cash fund bonds. A group of Grayslake residents has filed a petition with 722 signatures. The petition calls for a March, 1992 vote on the bond issue.

Mason's trial set to begin Oct. 21

WAUKEGAN — The trial of Burl Mason, who has been indicted on five counts of murder in the Aug. 8 death of his Spring Grove neighbor, is scheduled to begin on Oct. 21. Lake County Circuit Court Judge Peter Trobe will preside. Mason could face the death penalty or between 60 years and life in prison without parole if he is convicted of the five counts of first-degree murder that are charged against him. Mason is accused of raping and strangling to death Susan Pauly, 38, then stealing her Chevrolet Blazer and fleeing to Arizona. He was seized in a Phoenix, Ariz., hospital on Aug. 19, apparently after having suffered a heart attack.

Suspect sought in Labor Day attack

ROUND LAKE BEACH—Investigators in the Round Lake Beach Police Department are still searching for the suspect in an early morning attack of a local woman during the Labor Day Weekend. The suspect is described as a white male, about six-feet tall, with a medium build and dark curley hair. The victim, a 24-year-old Round Lake Beach resident, was taking a walk about 1 a.m. near Ellis School, 720 Central Park Drive, when she was attacked. According to reports, the suspect threatened to rape the woman and then knocked her unconcious.

Arrested pair admit 25-plus burglaries

ANTIOCH — Two men who told police they have been burglarizing unlocked cars and garages around Lake County since June were arrested Sept. 10 when an Antioch resident spotted them rifling through some cars in an apartment parking lot. Arrested and charged with burglary were Eric Peters, 18, who reportedly lived in his car in Wildwood, and Peter Baumann, 19, of Wildwood. Recovered stolen items included about $2,000 worth of binoculars, sleeping bags, hunting knives, motor oil and car stereos. Police from Gurnee, Round Lake Beach, Lake Villa and Waukegan and the Lake County Sheriff's Office are investigating. Antioch police said the two have admitted to more than 25 burglaries but "they stated they went through so many cars they couldn't remember how many," said Antioch Sgt. Ron Roth.

Developer told to trim project

WAUKEGAN—Plans for a seven-story apartment building in unincorporated Lake County with more than 800 units remained alive, but developers were told to downsize plans Monday. The judiciary committee of the Waukegan City Council referred a development bid by Frank Blazevich back to the development commission. The commission meets again on Oct. 8. The 15 acre parcel is located east of O'Plaine Rd., north of Rte. 120 and west of the Soo Line railroad tracks.

Wauconda school policy challenged

WAUCONDA—U.S. District Judge Paul Plunkett began hearing testimony Sept. 16 in a suit that charges that Wauconda District 118 policies regarding the distribution of literature in the school are unconstitutional. Proponents of the lawsuit say the policy violates students rights. The suit rose out of an incident when a student was prohibited from passing out religious materials. District officials contended they are not trying to infringe on anyone's constitutional rights but are attempting to maintain order and ensure they are not seen as endorsing or promoting a particular religion.

Oktoberfest fun set at St. Andrew

Village sets leaf burning restrictions

LINDENHURST — The Village Board has proposed leaf burning restrictions that limit the previously unregulated activity to April and Sept. 15 - Dec. 15. If passed, the regulations would be effective beginning Oct. 5. Burning of construction materials would be banned. Lindenhurst, one of the few areas still allowing unregulated burning, opted for restrictions after a board trustee suggested that it is uhealthy.

Fall Foliage

Evergreens—Riches for home landscapes

Fall is an excellent time to plant evergreens which provide year-round appeal while serving as privacy screens, hedges, foundation plantings or alone to showcase especial-ly beautiful specimens.

Evergreens Types

There are two basic classes of evergreens. Narrow-leaf types, such as spruce and juniper, have needle-like foliage in colors ranging from deep green to golden yellow to bright blue. Broad-leaf types have spectacular flowers to go along with handsome leaves in various shapes and sizes.

Narrow-leaf evergreens can be planted right up until the ground freezes. Broad-leaf kinds are best planted six to eight weeks prior to first killing frosts.

Both classes can be divided into five categories that are suggestive of their landscape use: large trees, small trees/large shrubs, medium-size shrubs and ground covers.

Large trees, such as blue Atlas cedar and southern Magnolia, are usually planted singly so that their beauty and size dominate a portion of the landscape.

Small trees and large shrubs, 10 to 20 feet tall, are often used to create privacy, block wind and screen unpleasant views and noise. Chinese juniper and Japanese black pine are good choices in cold climates, Italian cypress and cherry laurel in milder regions.

Most useful of all are medium-size shrubs. These attain an ultimate height of eight to 10 feet making attractive hedges, low screens or concealing unsightly foundations. Many of these evergreens also make fine additions to garden beds and borders. Rhododendron, Japanese holly and yew are among the medium-size shrubs that flourish in various parts of the country.

Small shrubs under six feet tall are frequently planted in front of taller evergreens to create a cascading effect. Cotoneaster and spreading juniper work particularly well.

Evergreen covers are invaluable where lawn grass performs poorly, such as under trees or on steep slopes. Bearberry, a broad-leaf creeper, does well in both cold and moderate climates.

Beautification Tips

Regardless of variety or landscape function, the key to having beautiful evergreens is proper planting. Given a good start, evergreens will continue to beautify the home landscape twelve months a year. Here are some tips to help ensure success.

Dig a hole two to three times the width of the root ball and just as deep. The planting hole should have sloping sides. Use a garden fork to loosen the soil at the bottom of the hole for good drainage and break up the sides to allow for easier root penetration. On a tarp, break up clumps of dug out earth, remove rocks and other debris, and mix in one part Canadian Peat with two parts soil to increase absorption and air circulation, which is vital to the expanding root system. Encourage roots to stretch and grow laterally by preparing the top six inches of soil in a radius of three to six feet around the planting hole—break up the soil and amend it with a two-inch layer of Canadian Peat which either makes heavy clay soil more porous or light sandy soil more water-retentive. In addition, Canadian Peat Moss has a reliably acidic pH making it perfect for hollies, azaleas and other evergreens.

Evergreens come either in containers or with their root balls wrapped in burlap. Container plants must be removed from their pots. If roots tightly encase the potting soil, loosen them or cut several slits through them directly into the soil to encourage growth of new roots.

Balled-and-burlapped plants can be placed in the hole as is. Simply fold back the top of the burlap wrapping once the plant is firmly in position.

After filling the hole halfway with more of the amended soil, water thoroughly. Finish filling in and then create a saucer-like depression around the plant, 18" to 24" across, to help hold in water. Soak again.

Fall Foliage

Fall lawn attention brings beautiful lawn in spring

Even if leaves are already covering your lawn this fall, it does not mean your lawn should remain out of sight, out of mind.

Fall is one of the most important seasons in the lawn care cycle, and a minimal amount of care to your lawn this fall will protect your turf during the cold winter months. The result of your fall efforts will be a better, thicker lawn now and next spring.

Lawn care experts offer several suggestions in preparing your lawn before the first frost arrives—including fertilizing, controlling weeds, and raking leaves.

Fall is an ideal time to fertilize, since the growth patterns of your grass have changed since summer. In fall the growth is concentrated in the roots instead of the blades. This means less mowing, even after fertilizing. Two fertilizer applications are recommended for fall. The most important thing to look for when choosing a product is the right proportion of nutrients in the analysis listed on the front of the package. The analysis lists the proportion of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium, always in that order.

The first application should occur in early to mid-September. When selecting a fertilizer to use in early fall, consumers should look for a product with a high amount of nitrogen to strengthen grass blades and maintain a rich green color. Look for an analysis of at least 22-3-3.

In addition to fertilizing, fall is a good time to apply a broadleaf weed control, since dandelions and other such weeds are actively growing again. A combination weed control plus lawn fertilizer is recommended for your first fall application if you need to control weeds.

The second fertilizer application is recommended for late fall, four to six weeks after the first. It is best to look for a product rich in both nitrogen and potassium. The ideal analysis for the second fall application is 19-3-12. This type of fertilizer will help ensure overall vigor needed to resist the stresses of the winter months.

Experts also suggest raking leaves often. Leaves left on a lawn for an extended period of time promote insects and disease. It is also important to make sure leaves ae raked before the first snow.

The plant: It's man's other best friend

In Greek mythology the Christmas rose, thought to possess magical powers, was used by the physician Melampus to cure the made daughters of Proteus, god of the sea. Belief in the magical properties of the Christmas rose grew to such heights that it was often used to purify homes by driving out evil spirits.

Today, plants are evaluated from a scientific viewpoint and still appreciated for the many benefits they bring to our lives. In today's smoggy world, our friend, the plant, whether by magic or science, converts carbon dioxide into life-giving oxygen, and acts as a natural air freshener by removing harmful chemicals both inside and outside our homes. Their presence alone helps to keep the air clean and fresh smelling.

Man's basic survival would be very different without fruits and vegetables to eat, grains to feed cattle, and lumber to shelter us. The plants in the rain forest not only provide many life-saving medicines, but also stabilize the global climate and fight global warming by lowering the earth's temperature. But the millions of different plants in the world provide even more than these services.

The plants surrounding our homes work for us in many ways. Studies have shown that the trees and bushes close to a house can save the homeowner money by lowering heating and cooling cost. They shade and insulate homes from summer sun and winter blasts.

Trees and shrubs also insulate homes from unwanted outside noises. Acting as a natural barrier, they keep home and yard quiet and peaceful, while making sure neighbors go undisturbed. Plants are also used to hide undesirable views while enhancing others. With proper planning, beautiful gardens can be created to provide an every-changing view seen from every window of the home.

Plants can bring even more than cost savings and pleasant views. Offering food and shelter, they bring new friends to the neighborhood. Nothing is more cheerful in the morning than the song of chirping birds or the playful antics of a visiting raccoon.

While we all know that eating fruits and vegetables is good for our health, we also recognize the benefits provided by planting and tending the garden. Many gardeners insist they have improved their health and lowered their blood pressure by tilling soil. It's a rare sight to see a nervous gardener.

Yet, probably the best benefit of all is the way plants make our home and yards more delightful and attractive. The sights, scents and tastes of plants bring an enormous amount of pleasure to our lives.

Plants cheer us when we're sick, and signal the change of seasons.

Dist. 34 achievement tests reveal math proficiency

by DOUG DUSIK
Lakeland Newspapers

Math concepts ranked as the highest percentile SRA achievement test score in eight out of nine Antioch Community Consolidated School District No. 34 grades.

The district said these rankings indicate that a particularly effective job is being done teaching math concepts.

The SRA results indicate healthy scores throughout all grade levels and consistency with results reported the prior two years.

Reviewing composite scores by grade level revealed that in six out of nine comparisons, this year's score is at or above last year's scores at the same grade level.

Dist. 34's composite national average score was at 74. This means that, on average, Dist. 34 pupils performed better than 74 percent of the pupils in the nationally representative norm group.

"Overall we're pleased with the test results, but you can't rest on your laurels," said Don Skidmore, Dist. 34 superintendent. "There's always room for improvement."

Among the areas of improvement are spelling, which ranked in the middle or near the bottom of six out of the nine grades tested.

The district attributes this decline to the proliferation of inventive spelling techniques currently being used. These techniques de-emphasize spelling concerns during early writing drafts.

SRA achievement tests measure individual and group growth in reading, math and language. Group growth in the three major test areas illustrates a healthy and consistent pattern of student achievement.

At Dist. 34, 55 percent of the groups shown maintained or increased their percentile scores over the prior year in that subject area as measured by the subject total score.

All aboard

New teachers were welcomed to the Antioch School Dist. 34 by returning administrators. Pictured, from left, are: Antioch Lower Grade School Principal Harlan Ware, first grade teacher Charlene Bestler, Oakland School Principal Jim Lienhardt, kindergarten teacher Chris Johnson, first grade teacher Connie Downard and Dist. 34 Asst. Supt. Dan Burke.

Dist. 34 taxes drop for '91

The tax rate for Antioch Community Consolidated School District No. 34 is expected to drop to $2.88 per $100 of assessed valuation, Supt. Don Skidmore said. Last year's rate was $2.96 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The decrease comes at the same time that the district is requesting an increase in the total property tax levy estimated last year. The estimate was $5.3 million. The district is now requesting $5.7 million.

A public hearing regarding the levy increase request has been scheduled for Oct. 1 at 7:30 p.m. at W. C. Petty School in Antioch.

Upper Grade School scientists readying for Camp Timber-Lee

by DOUG DUSIK
Lakeland Newspapers

About 60 pupils in sixth, seventh and eighth grade at Antioch Upper Grade School are preparing for this weekend's four-day trip to Camp Timber-Lee in East Troy, Wis.

The group will leave Sunday afternoon and return on Wednesday. Lodging and food are being provided by the camp.

Upper Grade School has provided this opportunity to pupils for 16 years. Debe Dankel, a sixth grade science teacher, has been involved for 13 of those years.

"Kids get an appreciation for the environment," Dankel says. "Secondly, they get a chance to work with kids from other grade levels.

"And third, the get to see their teachers in a different light. Instead of just seeing us in a classroom as a stuffy teacher, they see us in different clothes playing."

Though it may appear to be, the time at Camp Timber-Lee is not all play. Dankel, for example, is charged with the peanut patch activity.

Kids pretend they are squirrels and Dankel spreads peanuts around for them to collect and store. The pupils wear squirrel masks and four-fingered gloves (squirrels don't have thumbs) and collect the peanuts and store them.

In doing so, the kids learn about adaptation, competition and territory.

In another activity, the pupils make musical instruments out of natural objects, such as rocks, sticks or brush. Then they have to pick a song and play it for the audience, and the audience has to try and guess it.

While they're at the camp, the kids write their own newspaper, which they get to see and keep when they get back to school for memories.

magnetic fields."

Crawford also eased another of the Board's concerns by stating that Com Ed did not forsee any need to increase the voltage to the substation by 138,000 volts.

"We certainly will come before the Board if we need to alter any of these items in the future," Crawford added.

Com Ed has said the new substation is needed to better supply Antioch's immediate power needs and the needs of a growing northwest Lake County in the future.

Critics of Com Ed's proposal say the high-power lines should be circumvented around Lake Villa or that the lines should be buried underground.

Com Ed has responded by saying that it would be too costly to bury the power lines and this is not a provenly safe method of avoiding EMF. As for going around Lake Villa, the utility company said land was not available for power line use.

A citizen's committee of people objecting to Com Ed's proposal has formed and is planning to meet with the Illinois Commerce Commission to see what can be done.

The committee plans to have a signed petition ready when it finally meets with the ICC.

Police arrest two who confess to countywide car, garage burglaries

by DOUG DUSIK
Lakeland Newspapers

'They stated they went through so many cars, they couldn't remember how many' — Antioch police Sgt. Ron Roth

Two men who told police they have been cruising through Lake County neighborhoods and burglarizing cars and garages since June were arrested by Antioch police.

Police were alerted by a resident of Coral Apts., who observed the suspects rifling through cars in the apartment parking lots at about 2 a.m. on Sept. 10. The resident stayed on the phone with police until they arrived.

After questioning them, police arrested Eric Peters, 18, whose last known address was Waukegan, and Peter Baumann, 19, of Wildwood. Baumann was reportedly living in his car in Wildwood.

Recovered from the suspects' car was property from three vehicles in the apartment parking lot, police said.

A subsequent inventory of the car recovered numerous items believed to be stolen from Wildwood, Lake Villa, Gages Lake, Grandwood Park, Gurnee and Round Lake Beach.

Police said recovered items included tents, binoculars, sleeping bags, cases of motor oil, hunting knives, mag wheels, radar detectors, car stereos and speakers, coolers and tools.

Antioch police Sgt. Ron Roth said that under questioning, Baumann and Peters confessed to more than 25 burglaries since June.

"They admitted to going out late at night — 12:30 to 1 a.m. — and looking for unlocked cars and unlocked garages," Roth said. "They stated they would go through apartment parking lots and go through vehicles looking for change.

"They stated they went through so many cars they couldn't remember how many."

Peters was charged with three counts of burglary by Antioch police. Baumann was charged with five counts of burglary and unlawful possession of ammunition without a firearm owner's identification card.

Lake Villa, Gurnee and Round Lake Beach also are investigating, Roth said. Waukegan and the Lake County Sheriff's Office are expected to bring additional charges against the suspects.

Roth said the recovery process has been slow because many people who were burglarized did not report the crime to police. He urged citizens to always make out a police report, even if they don't think the suspect will be caught.

While the offensive line was a little hesitant the first quarter, they came back full steam for the rest of the game rushing for 224 yards.

Thanks to the defense, the Vikings goal line was never threatened. Dan Elfering intercepted a pass and a fumble recovery was made by Nick McCann. Coach Fred Eichorn looks forward to a great season by his team.

Tim Jenkins began the attack with a 72-yard run in the first quarter for their first touchdown, followed by another fantastic run of 50 yards for their second TD. Karl Richter followed that up with a 32-yard run and a 24-yard run, both resulting in touchdowns. Adam Reeves scored the extra point. Kevin Johnson had 2 impressive runs for 11 yards apiece, while Karl Richter ran for 10 yards.

The defense was pumped as a team effort was made by Jason Myers, Blayne Grana and Dan Shaughnessey to score 2 points for a safety. Ryan Robertson was also credited with 2 QB sacks.

Bears 14-Mundelein 17

After a slow start, the Bears came out victorious over Mundelein. Coach Pat Podstawa was pleased with the 4-yard run made by Jason Birren to get the first touchdown of the game, followed by the extra point. Eric Ludden returned a 60-yard punt and Bob Bedrosian and Josh Kos had good yardage for the day. The offensive line looked much better in the second half.

Defensive credits go out to Mark Maiche, Pat Patterson and Gary Stiller, who caused Mundelein to make a lot of mistakes, along with Brett Halavacs and Eric Francke, by causing Mundelein to fumble the ball 3 times.

by LIZ SCHMEHL

Special award

In February, the Grass Lake School Board of Education received information about the "Those Who Excel Award," sponsored by the Illinois State Board of Education. The application included seven areas for nominating district candidates.

At the March meeting, the school board decided to nominate Helen Olechny under the category of non-certified school support staff.

Helen has been a clerical aide at Grass Lake School for 11 years, and the entire school community has always realized and appreciated Helen's dedication to her job. The nominating papers and letters of recommendation were sent in.

All entries had to be submitted by June 15th. Now the waiting game began. On Friday, Aug. 23, Helen received the official word that she had been chosen for the award. How wonderful for her and because of her, how special for out community. The next step in receiving this special award is the fancy awards dinner held on Friday, Sept. 27, at the beautiful Hyatt Regency Hotel in downtown Chicago.

Helen and several family members will be attending the dinner and ceremonies as will Dr. Ruth Bill, the GLS Superintendent, Principal Raymond Liss, several staff members and school board members. Congratulations Helen, no one is more deserving than you.

Hometown Goodies

Friendly Reunion

Long-time Antioch are residents Don and Margaret Anderson (now of Melbourne, Fla.) were the recent guests of honor at the huge family/friends reunion.

The 100-plus gathering was organized by their son and daughter-in-law, Ken and Faye Anderson. People came from all over, as did their daughter, Anne Robertson, from Texas.

The gala affair was held at Brightondale Park in Wisconsin and Faye spent two days cooking the main course of roast beef, chicken and various sausages. All of the guests brought a side dish to pass and after the meal, everyone enjoyed a piece of one of Faye's delicious homemade pies.

The decorating theme was done up in red, white,and blue in honor of cousin Robert Millameke, who recently returned form Saudi Arabia.

Besides enjoying hugs, kisses, and friendly conversation, many of the guests participated in games of horseshoes, baseball and volleyball.

Faye and hubby, Ken, arrived at the park at 6:30 a.m. to get everything in order and their daughter, Heidi Draper, and son, Ken Anderson, Jr., also arrived early to help them prepare. The guests began to arrive as early as 11, and the last were to leave about 8 p.m..

Although Don and Margaret have now lived in Florida for several years, they continue getting this "hometown" paper in their home, and Faye tells me they read this column each week.

Therefore, "hi Don and Margaret!" It sounds like your visit was made extra special by the reunion gathering. Enjoy Florida, keep reading, and come back "home" again soon!!

Assignment books helping to monitor grades fourth-eighth

by DOUG DUSIK
Lakeland Newspapers

In an effort to help kids get more organized and to spot potential homework assigment problems, a new book has been issued to fourth- through eighth-graders in Antioch District schools.

For the first time this year, pupils are required to have in their possession in each class an assignment book. All information regarding assignments and their completion, as well as classroom performance and behavior is listed in the book.

"Kids can't hose their parents now," said Bill Herbst, principal of Antioch Upper Grade School. "They know when everything is due, and with today's busy parents' schedules, this appears to be a boon.

"Everybody is on the same page of the hymn at the same time."

Pupils are responsible for recording all assignments for each class for the day and the subject. Parents are asked to check the book each night.

If classroom performance and behavior are satisfactory, no comments will be filled in by the teacher. But if there is a problem, the teacher has the option of filling in a performance and behavior code.

Achievement letters run the typical A, B, C, D and E, but behavior codes run from one to 14, with comments like "Does not come to class prepared," "Absences have hindered progress" or "Classroom conduct needs improvement."

Parents are asked to initial these comments and the teacher will ask to look at the assignment book the day after such an evaluation is made.

"It's not going to be a cure-all for all kids but it's going to focus on the problems more readily for the parent," Herbst said.

He said compliance so far has been good "but ask me again in a year. For most of the kids this is not a problem because they've been pretty organized for years. Sixth-graders are having the hardest time."

The program has been discussed for years, Herbst said.

"It's something we feel is very important. It's one of the concerns we've had for years for youngsters," he said. "If they're not going to be responsible youngsters, they're not going to be responsible adults."

Sequoits set for tourney

Antioch's volleyball team will be able to find out just how far it has progressed in the first half of the season Sept. 21.

For the Sequoits are in the five-team Stevenson tournament. The tourney may as well be called the "Big one and the little four" as the Patriots are unbeaten and state-ranked.

Still, the Sequoits come into the first match at 9 a.m. against McHenry after raising their record to 6-4 overall and splitting two North Suburban Conference matches last week. Antioch fell to Livertyville 16-14, 15-5 but beat Lake Forest 15-4, 15-7.

Serving continued to be an Atioch strength as the Sequoits made good on 42-of-43 serves. "Our serving has been really good," Coach Qwen Varney said.

Janelle Maki had seven kills for the winners and 12-for-13 serving. Carrie Delany was 13-for-15 serving with four assists, Cori todd was nine-for-nine with six points and three aces and Krissy Andrews was seven-for-seven with seven points and three aces.

The Sequoits had the Wildcats on the ropes in the first game, leading 14-10. "We played well against Libertyville, but they have a lot of good hitters and we missed some serves and gave them too many free balls. We had five net violations," Varney said.

Following the tournament, the Sequoits host Warren in a NSC battle Sept. 25.

Making hard choices

Much of the controversy over the referendum on a $32 million bond issue to build a new high school for Antioch, Lindenhurst and Lake Villa is centering around the age-old debate over whether fancy new buildings or teachers make a school.

The debate seems never ending since the days following World War II when suburban growth communities were putting up new school buildings to meet the demands of a mushrooming population. Those were the days that both school leaders and citizens pretty much forgot about the teachers with a resultant salary gap that launched trade unionism in a profession where practitioners once held themselves above collective bargaining. Correcting the wounds of that gap is a thankless task stinging taxpayers to this day.

The Antioch High controversy is worth watching as a test of the relevancy of the argument that "bricks and mortar" do not make a school. Opponents of the bond issue contend that district voters should refurbish existing facilities and put money saved into the classroom.

Outcome of the referendum should offer some direction if taxpayers have changed their attitudes about education, whether buildings or what's in the buildings is more important. Attempts to keep up on both sides haven't been working out. There is ample evidence that the time is at hand where hard choices have to be made.

Guaranteeing quality

Right or wrong, action taken by trustees of College of Lake County to increase tuition costs10 percent for each of the next two years is part of a pattern of the upward spiral of higher education costs that is putting a college degree farther out of the hands of students with lesser means all the time.

Faced with the alternative of increasing student-teacher ratios and not expanding the faculty, trustees opted for the tuition hike that will see credit hour costs going from $33.10 to $36.25 next year and to $39.35 in 1993-94. The increased tuition costs will put CLC in the top quarter of community colleges in Illinois.

CLC still will be offering a quality college education, although not at bargain basement rates as originally intended when voters established the college district a quarter of a century ago.

Although the increased tuition might result in tight budgets for more students, it's doubtful whether the added tuition will create a make or break situation for the average student. What's important is that CLC students still will be getting a quality education. Trustees wisely guaranteed that with the new tuition policy.

Letters to the Editor

Strike spawns fear

Editor:

I'd like to bring forth some side effects of the Gavin School District strike. Most people who are concerned and informed on the issues have taken their stand, either with the teachers union or the school board. This is a right that should be respected by everyone.

I happen to support the board of education. I am a grandparent of a Gavin student and a taxpayer in this district. I am also familiar with and have a lot of respect for many of the Gavin teachers. But I just paid the second installment of my real estate taxes, about 40 percent of which goes to Gavin School District. I watch my children struggle to put braces on their children's teeth. I know that the raises for all members of my family were in the range of four to five percent. My husband is 55 and he would love to retire early. If we worked nearer the city, no doubt wages would be higher. But we chose to live and work in a more rural area. That is the price we pay for working close to home.

I know Gavin School has some excellent teachers. However, there is an element of their union or supporters who have been making continual harassing and threatening phone calls throughout day and night to board members and to teachers who chose not to strike. Considering this type of behavior, do people who support the board have to be afraid of voicing their opinions for fear of retaliation or attitude problems by this element when their children return to school? Or even worse, do the children have to be afraid?

Memories of waste

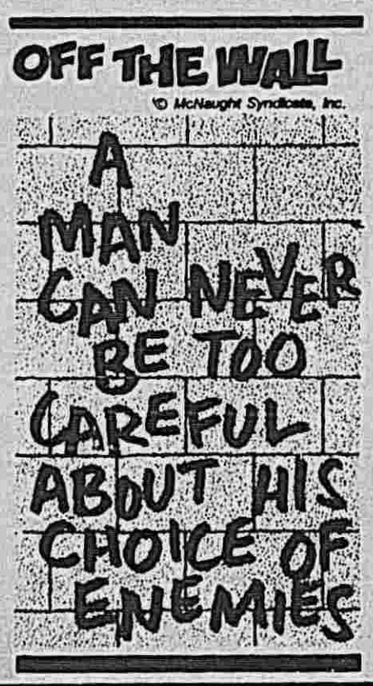

Editor:

As we near the end of our third week of no school, I am very concerned that the two sides have not yet even come close to settling the issue. Bringing in replacement teachers is not a solution. Embraced in a power struggle is not a solution. Sending our children to other area schools is not a solution.

As a parent, I feel that the children should be in school by now. The board has had plenty of time to compromise, as have the teachers. This strike could go on for ever the way the two sides are holding tough! I think the teachers have seen their way to "giving in" on a few minor points. Now I feel it is the board's responsibility to "give in" on a few minor points. This is how a negotiation is supposed to take place. Not with the mentality of "it's my ball, so I make the rules."

After this is all behind us, the public can remember the waste of time, money and our children's education that took place in the Gavin School District. Thanks for the memories!

Development endorsed

Editor:

We sincerely believe the Roney Farm Development will be advantageous to our community. In our opinion a development of this size and nature will have a direct impact on the entire Village of Wauconda whether or not it is annexed by the Village of Wauconda. Therefore, we feel it is of primary importance that its development be controlled by the Village of Wauconda.

The Wauconda Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors voted unanimously to endorse the annexation of the Roney Farm and its subsequent development as currently proposed. Since this development is inevitable, we pray that you will vote "yes" to the Roney Farm Annexation and to the development being a part of the Village of Wauconda.

Confusing two hats

Editor:

I am going to give the co-chairman of IRATE, a Libertyville tax watch-dog organization, an Indian name. Jack "Two-Hats" Martin.

Just one week after F. T. "Mike" Graham announced his candidacy for Libertyville High School board member, stating the need for legislative reform to recover development impact fees and tag lag; "Two-Hat" Martin is attempting to jump on Graham's bandwagon.

I have been on many County Board committees with Graham, where he has done everything to encourage school superintendents, fellow board members and the legislators to get tough on developers impact fees. Now "Two-Hats" Martin (it is my suspicion, also finances IRATE) is attempting to build a phony tax watch-dog image. "Two-Hats" endorses and supports pro-development candidates wearing one hat; and then protests high taxes, caused by the same development, wearing a different hat.

Adding more political doubletalk, he extracts political praise from: land developer, Lake County Republican Chairman and State Representative Bob Churchill

Old pro speaks about schools; ideas worthy

by BILL SCHROEDER

A wedding reception in another state seemed like an unlikely place for two Illinois residents to be engaged in lively conversation about the problems plaguing public school education in Illinois.

As a newspaperman I became instantly fascinated with the forthright viewpoints of the downstate high school principal who has taught, coached and administered in enough communities around Illinois to be qualified to speak. A personable and passionate professional, my new-found friend undoubtedly was emboldened by the fact that he wouldn't be quoted in his hometown press.

"I love teaching. If I had to start all over again, I'd do exactly what I have done and what I am doing. Teaching kids. I'm convinced that teachers can make a difference in the lives of kids. That's why we're teachers. We do make a difference," my conversational partner enthused, both of us oblivious to the fun on the dance floor, the glasses clinking in the background and the bride and groom bustling from table to table, accepting congratulations, hugging old friends and openly expressing their joy.

Satisfied that my engaging conversational partner had insights and opinions of value, I made mental notes during our chance meeting. The veteran educator ticked off what amounted to a bill of particulars to revitalize the educational process. His points are worth sharing and deserve consideration.

---Bigness is not better. Many school districts have become unmanageable. 500 to 800 students is ideal. "That size everyone knows each other. Teachers get to know parents. Teachers know their students' friends. You know where they hang out. You even know the car they drive. All this makes a big difference."

---Streamline administration. "Education ought to follow the lead of business and reduce the number of supervisors and bureaucrats in our schools."

---Require some classroom duties of all administrators. "There's nothing like 'taking a class' to find out what's happening in your school. We're all supposed to be teachers basically, aren't we?"

---Involve teachers in problem solving. "Our teachers know what to do and they can do the job. If test scores are too low, for example, the teacher will know how to make corrections."

---Eliminate supervisory incompetence. "There's nothing more frustrating to a teacher than having an incompetent supervisor tell them how to do their job."

---Separate Chicago and East St. Louis from state school funding politics. "The state has to get its act together. Chicago and East St. Louis are not typical of Illinois school districts. They have to be handled differently."

Upon reflection, I tried to distill into a single thought what my chance acquaintance was saying. He said a mouthful, all right, but his views seemed to boil down to this: Let's rekindle the spirit in our teachers that propelled them into teaching careers in their youth. Then give them the tools and stand aside.

Not a bad thought. And it just might work if the politicians and bureaucrats would stop messing around with our schools.

Politically Speaking

TRUSTEE MISSING

Someone has pulled a disappearing act. Round Lake Beach village Trustee John "Andy" Sanders is missing, gone, disappeared.

Actually, he is living in Kent,Wash. His final water bill was sent there Sept. 3.

All most people know is the man elected last spring hasn't been around for semi-monthly committee or village board meetings. He attended a handful before dropping out of sight.

Sanders previously gave the excuse he was attending school. While previously serving on the Round Lake school board similar absences were supposedly because he traveled. Sanders reluctantly resigned that position several months after being elected a village trustee.

Because Round Lake Beach is growing so fast and faces keep changing, no one knows who represents them until election time when candidates want votes.

As far as Mayor Carl Schrimpf is concerned, Sanders is still a trustee until he resigns.

But wait! Sanders may be suddenly reincarnated. He is expected to show up for a key village board vote. It will be to spend the $5 million already spent on the new 9-1-1 Cen-Com center. Votes of all trustees are needed, whether or not they live in the village.

SOMETHING SMELLS

Two legislators are getting a nasty letter from the village of Mundelein. They are state Rep. Dick Klemm (R-Crystal Lake) and state Sen. Jack Schaffer (R-Crystal Lake).

In the waning moments of summer's legislative session they co-sponsored a bill that would impact every community in the state. Towns, villages and cities would be required to accept septic tank waste from haulers—at a reasonable cost.

Why? Because honey wagons are being shut out dumping stations due to the high cost of treating their concentrated septage. Where the door isn't closed, the cost is prohibitive.

Gov. Jim Edgar wisely vetoed the bill, say Mundelein trustees. They don't want to expand the village treatment plant for the sake of waste haulers and builders serving unincorporated, unsewered areas.

THE THIN MAN

That's what you can call Dennis Abbott of Island Lake. Remember him, the former president of the Lake Zurich Fire Protection Dist.?

He's lost 110 of his 350-plus pounds. "Did it with Ultra Slim Fast," he tells admirers while showing off the new-found space in his bib overalls.

All it takes it lots of liquid, one meal a day and a good constitution.

It's almost enough to make him look like a new man.

GHOSTS AND TAXES

Former County Board member F. T. "Mike" Graham chortles every time he reads the newspaper where Grayslake is mentioned. He almost belly-laughs when former Mayor Edwin Schroeder is quoted.

As of late it has been a controversy about $2 million grade school Dist. 46 wants to borrow. Schroeder headed a successful petition drive to put the issue on the ballot next March. One of the problems, he says, is an 11 percent, three-year pay raise given teachers.

Unless something is done, school officials predict the system will be $1 million in debt within two years.

Supt. David Duffy blames the village's high growth rate, low equalized assessed valuation and being a community of mostly single-family homes.

Graham repeatedly told Schroeder this while on the County Board. He challenged Schroeder to public debates about whether development pays its own way.

"Now, the Ghost of the Past is coming home," Graham said. "I told Schroeder so. No one was listening."

OVERHEARD

NO CONTEST—Phar-Mor, the new discount store in Gurnee Mills, won't sell liquor like it does at many other locations. The chain's bid for a license was rejected 5-1 by the village board. Maverick Trustee Mark Ratfelders cast the lone vote of approval. Mayor Richard Welton didn't get a chance to cast a ballot. One of the stores he leases to another firm already holds a liquor store license.

STILL BLACK— State Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa) of the 62nd Dist. is coming up in the world. He traded in his seven-year-old black Mercury Marquis with 120,000-plus miles for a new black Lincoln Town Car. It displays House plate 44, which shows the numerical seniority of the state minority whip. Friends are predicting the conservative Churchill may try to get 200,000 miles out of this car.

Focus on criminals

Editor:

I am writing in the hopes of dispelling the far-flung myth that law enforcement officers support gun control. The police administration on Capitol Hill, most of who haven't been on the street for decades, do not speak for the majority of rank and file police.

Take it from someone who knows. Gun bans and other harsh anti-gun laws directed at lawful gun owners ultimately do nothing to reduce violent crime. Semi-automatic gun bans in some states put law-abiding gun owners at risk of arrest and prosecution for refusing to register, surrender or otherwise dispose of their guns. Now a similar nationwide ban is proposed. I want to arrest criminals, not lawful citizens made into common criminals by means of misguided laws. That's why I oppose semi-auto gun ban proposals and other worthless anti-gun laws masquerading as crime control.

My job would be a lot easier if our elected officials would dedicate more time, money and effort toward developing anti-crime tools which legislate against the criminal, not law-abiding citizens. Let's cut out the easy parole and courtroom injustice and start enforcing the tough laws already on the books.

Take time to write

Editor:

Some years back a reader wrote to the New York Post "I read your paper every day. I wish your proofreader did, too."

Finding fleas on the watchdogs of society is a favorite pastime in America, and it results in literally millions of letters to editors each year. As it prepares to observe National Card and Letter Writing Week Sept. 22 through 28, the U.S. Postal Service is encouraging citizens to write letters not only to editors, but to anyone they'd like to give a piece of their minds—or their hearts.

A letter has the power to express thoughts and feelings and touch those we care about in a way that's more memorable and lasting than other forms of communication. Keeping alive the art of letter writing also helps promote literacy in our country.

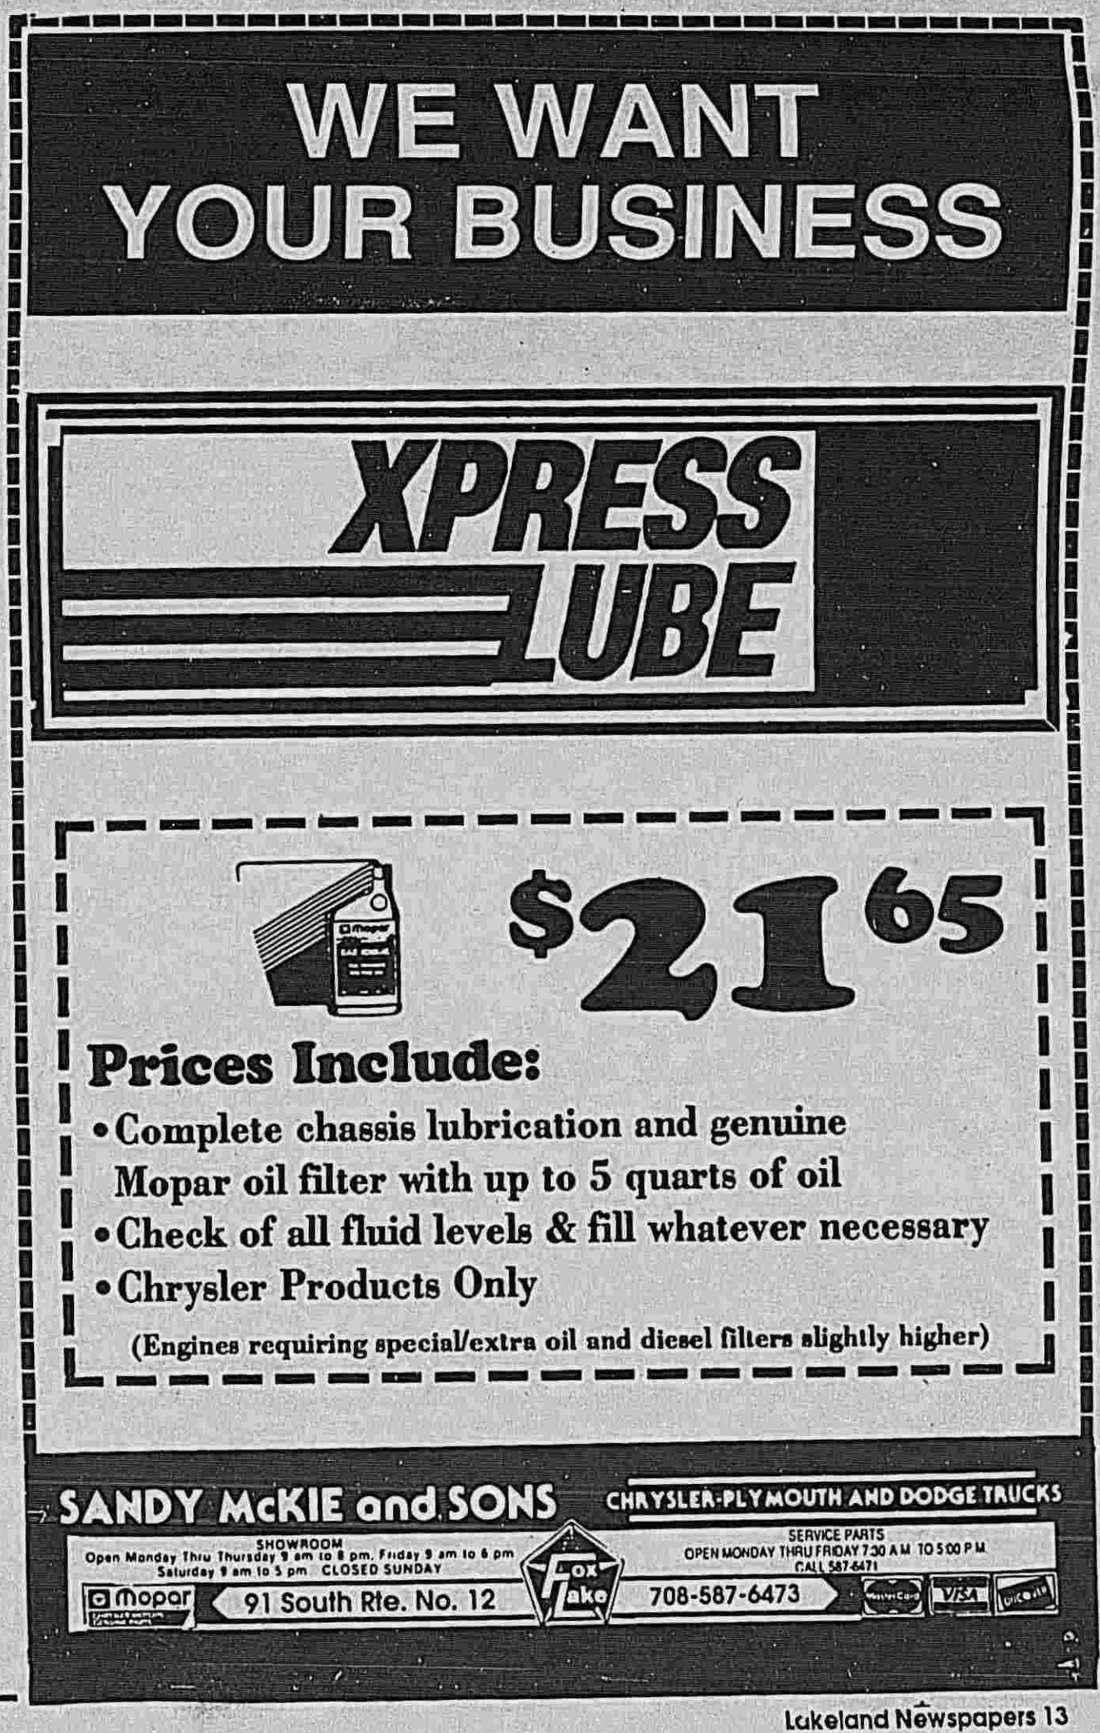

I want to encourage all the citizens to take part in National Card and Letter Writing Week. It's easy to do—just write a letter to someone. And you can help the Postal Service speed delivery of your letter by making sure it's completely addressed and the address is legible.

Writing letters is a skill we must not let fade from our society. It is one of the simplest yet most effective methods of binding friends, family—and our nation—together.

Gavin kids, teachers return to classrooms

by GREG MILLER
Lakeland Newspapers

Students at all three District 37 schools were back in class Tuesday after the school board and the striking Gavin Education Association tentatively agreed on a pact to end the three-week-old walkout.

'I'm pleased with the contract settlement, and I'm pleased to be back at school'—Janie Keane.

The new contract, which will run for three years and be retroactive to the 1990-91 school year, was agreed upon during a 16-hour session at the Federal Mediation and Reconciliation Service in Hinsdale.

The teachers have already voted to accept the provisions, while the board will make it official when the contract is a legal document.

"I don't anticipate any problem from the board — all of them were in Hinsdale," District 37 Supt. Michael Maloney said. "The board will vote on it as soon as it's in its final form."

At the center of the dispute was the allocation of $133,000 already set aside for teacher salaries. The board wanted to up the ante for new teachers while experienced teachers would receive little or no increases. The union wanted less money for beginning teachers and more for veterans.

Somehow, the agreement addresses both party's concerns. The teacher had been working without a contract for nearly 15 months.

New teachers will start at $20,000 — up from $16,400. The maximum pay for experienced teachers with advanced degrees will go from $38,137 to $47,700. All teachers in the system last year will get a bulk payment of $1,000. All of those in the system last year who didn't get a raise — there are seven — will receive an additional $1,000. The teachers will lose one of two personal days allowed during the year.

Because of the strike, which began Aug. 26, the school year will be extended by eight days. Six of the days missed will be eliminated, and teachers will be docked six day's pay.

Maloney said no new money beyond the $133,000 was available.

"The board had said there was no more money," Maloney said. "The board had said we can work with the distribution of the money."

GEA President Janie Keane said it was good to be back.

"I'm very happy," Keane said. "I'm pleased with the contract settlement, and I'm pleased to be back at school.

"The board saw we were serious and willing to stay on strike. We could have stayed on strike, but I'm so glad it's over."

Keane, a veteran teacher with a master's degree, said the pact will create incentives. Only six of the 52 district teachers have advanced degrees, she said.

"There's never been any incentive for them," Keane said.

Keane added that the students in her fifth-grade class were prepared.

"It was nice. The kids were ready. There were no problems."

BB/BS share talents

More than 13 million children in the United States are growing up in one-parent families.

The patterns of instability and upheaval in family life continues to take their toll. Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Lake County is meeting this challenge by matching children, five through fourteen years of age and pregnant/single-parenting girls, 18 and younger, with responsible adults who are willing to spend three to five hours a week for a minimum of one year with them.

Share your talents, interests and life experiences with a child from a single-parent home in Lake County.

Learn more about the program at the Volunteer Orientation meetings on Tuesday, Oct. 1 and Monday, Oct. 21 at the Big Brother/Big Sister office located at 3838 Grandview Ave., Gurnee, from 6 to 8 p.m.

For more information and to make your orientation reservation, call (708) 360-0770.

DANGERPROBE

Ward Murphy and Greg Miller head skyward, a backward flop, one of several giant recoils and the final resting.—Photos by Lisa Ingellis

'Bungeeeeeeeeeeeeeee!' I cried as I plummeted earthward. (What I really yelled was an expletive of the four-letter variety. You can choose one to fit the situation.)

Taking the bungee plunge

This is another fine mess you've gotten yourself into, I thought as I stood on my perch 150 feet above the ground.

"You're ready — you can go anytime you want," Ward Murphy said from behind me and the safety of the metal cage within which we had been transported to the top of the crane mast.

It was one of those huge construction cranes. The kind of crane operated by big guys with big guts and big forearms bearing faded tattoos. The kind of guys who wear hardhats and make crude, animal-like noises as women scurry past in their business suits and Reeboks. Hey, wait a minute, I like to do that too.

Moments passed — as did wind, wafting in the sunny September sky.

"Take your time, but you can go anytime you want," Ward reminded me.

Go? Does he think I'm crazy? Well, I was, but those shock treatments squared me away. Dammit, Ward, I'm a writer, not the doctor on a Federation starship. Beam me down, Scottie.

"Do many people take this long to jump?" I asked Ward.

"Some people do," was his reply. I sensed a combination of amusement and disgust in his voice. His respect for me was eroding.

That's when — without really thinking about it — I released my grip, raised my arms and fell forward.

"Bungeeeeeeeeeeeeee!" I cried as I plummeted earthward. (What I really yelled was an expletive of the four-letter variety. You can choose one to fit the situation.)

But I was, in fact, doing that crazy thing called bungee jumping. It was courtesy of Drastic Elastic, the company Tom Lyons formed just last spring.

Tom, a 25-year-old native of Vermont, ended up in Chicagoland as a grain commodities trader. That's what he did with his economics degree from The University of Vermont.

It seems Tom, his family and his friends are enamored of the Great Outdoors. River rafting, rock climbing, windsurfing and triathloning are just some of the activities they enjoy.

In the spring of 1989, Tom took the bungee plunge for the first time. Since then, he's jumped 107 times. He's accomplished his longest jump of 320 feet twice — off a bridge in New Mexico and off a giant crane in San Francisco.

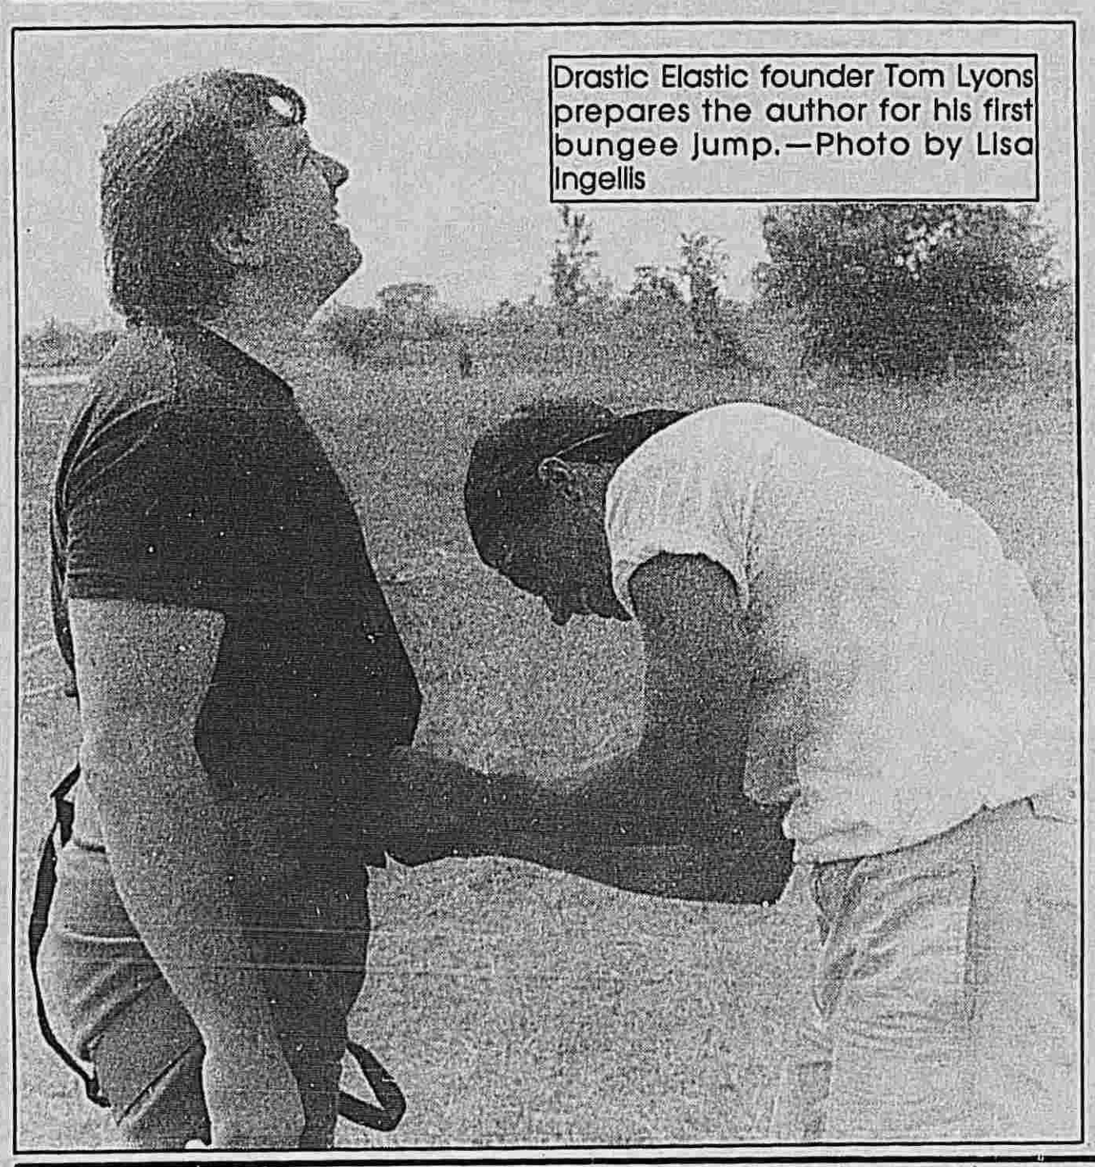

But why, Tom?

"For the same reason you did it," he answered. "Why not?

"It's what I call the 'ultimate leap of faith,'" Tom said. "You're just going for it. Every part of your body is telling you not to do it, but you do it — you've got this cord tied to you."

Bungee cords are made of rubber and

Pair rides first business venture mapping bike trails

by DOUG DUSIK
Lakeland Newspapers

A simple bicycle ride through the country sparked the entrepreneurial spirit of two Gurnee men.

Last winter, Carl Durley and Tim Burr were driving through the streets of Waukegan when they noticed signs alerting motorists to bicycle trail crossings.

Being avid bicyclists, the two vowed to ride the trails in the spring. They had spent many days biking on trails in Wisconsin, but never suspected that there might be a good trail closer to home.

In April, Durley and Burr set out on the trail, which turned into two, then three different trails running from Wilmette to Kenosha, Wis.

Running parallel to Lake Michigan, these closely linked trails meandered through Winnetka, Highland Park, Lake Forest, Waukegan, Zion and other communities, the pair found.

Rural beauty, smooth, level riding and interesting stops along the way rewarded bikers on these trails. But one thing was missing.

"There were no maps to guide would-be riders over gaps in these trails, no reliable source to indicate mileage or point out trailside facilities," Durley recalled.

"When we couldn't find any maps of the trails, we just decided to make some ourselves."

Durley, a technical writer, and Burr, a musician, started Happy Trails. Over the next three months they mapped out the three bike paths, hired a graphic artist for renderings, sold advertising to help with costs and finally had the maps printed up.

The work was done in spare time, away from regular employment. In late June, Happy Trails maps were offered for sale in bike shops, grocery markets and eating establishments along the trail.

"Sales haven't been as good as we expected but we made our money back, which is what we intended to do," Durley said.

The two sunk about $3,000 into the project and have sold somewhere between 1,500 and 1,800 maps. The maps range between $1.75 and $2.50 each.

Although a technical writer and Chinese language translator by trade, Durley said this was the first published project he has seen through from inception to finish.

The hardest part, he said, was selling the ads. The best part was riding the trails.

Each trail was explored by bike about five times. Then the ride was taken once more to get the hours of the different bicycle shops and eating establishments that are listed on their maps.

The entrepreneurs, who have known each other since they attended Northwestern University together in the 1960s, have already started on five more maps expected to be out next year.

Those maps will include the Fox River Valley, from Crystal Lake to Aurora.

Happy Trails is located at 36071 Grand Oaks Crt., Suite 206, Gurnee, IL 60031. The phone number is (708) 356-3462.

The two owners say they welcome any comments concerning their maps and enjoy sharing biking information with other riders.

First of America acquires Home Federal Bank deposits

First of American Bank-Northeast Illinois, a subsidiary of First of American Bank Corporation, has acquired the insured deposits and certain assets of Waukegan-based Home Federal Savings Bank F.A. from the Resolution Trust Corp., Nancy Singer, president and chief executive officer of First of America Bank-Northeast Illinois, announced tonight.

Home Federal's six offices, all in Lake County, are in Waukegan, Fox Lake, Grayslake, Lake Zurich, Lindenhurst and Round Lake Beach.

First of America is paying a premium of approximately $8.5 million to acquire the failed thrift's insured deposits of $135 million and $12 million in loans. First of America is assuming only FDIC-insured deposits.

Home Federal, which has 57 fulltime employees, was placed under RTC conservatorship Dec. 14, 1990. Its six offices in Lake County will reopen for business tomorrow morning as a separate operating division of First of America Bank-Northeast Illinois, Singer said.

Within two weeks, First of America Bank will mail letters explaining the changes that the former Home Federal's customers will see and the new services available.

For the immediate future, customers may continue to use the Home Federal checks and other Home Federal documents at Home Federal offices. It will be about three months before the Home Federal offices are integrated into First of America.

First of America Bank-Northeast Illinois is a subsidiary of First of American Bank Corporation, one of the largest bank holding companies in the Midwest with assets of $14.1 billion as of June 30. Its 27 banks serve 300 communities in Michigan, Indiana and Illinois through 460 offices. The banks engage in commercial banking, retail banking and mortgage lending, and provide trust, financial data processing and other financial services to consumers and small to mid-sized businesses.

Your family estate, who will get it, you or Uncle Sam?

by NICK J. BROWN

Most people do not realize the true value of what they have accumulated during a lifetime. They think only the Kennedy's have an "estate."

By the time a husband and wife reach retirement, many have a home, a business, an IRA, a pension plan, savings in stocks and bonds, and various real estate holdings. In addition to these, there can be contracts for retirement benefits, art and antique collections, jewelry and other valuable assets.

The sum of all of this is what Uncle Sam is secretly adding up during your lifetime and later will be taxed with a capital tax, quietly known as Federal Estate Tax.

Some of the best and brightest U.S. government employees are in the estate tax division waiting to add these up and apply the Federal Estate Tax which has a top rate of 55 percent.

In other words, those assets which you have acquired by paying both an income tax and maybe a capital gains tax will now at your death be subject to possibly a maximum 55 percent tax. Later on if your children give these properties to their children, there may be another tax of up to an additional 25 percent.

It is important at least to address this problem so steps can be taken to minimize or eliminate the effects of this tax on your family.

How to pay or avoid the tax

There are several most effective methods to either avoid paying the tax or if that's not possible, to pay the tax on a discounted basis.

This way to wealth

1. Each year annual gifts should be made to every prospective beneficiary. The current annual limit per beneficiary is $10,000 per year.

2. Everyone has a unified credit or lifetime exemption of $600,000 and this could all be given in one year. The most likely property, if possible, is that kind of property which will greatly appreciate and increase the taxes in the ultimate estate.

3. It may make sense to pay some taxes new beyond both the annual exclusion and the lifetime exclusion the amount of the taxes will be greatly reduced compared to the appreciated property in a subsequent estate.

4. If all of these methods have been exhausted, in addition, the estate taxes can be paid for pennies on the dollar by buying estate insurance on one or both spouses.

5. In combination with all of these five methods, wealth accumulation trusts can be set up both to hold life insurance and to make gifts to other parties during the estate owners lifetime.

With good planning, the amount of the estate tax bite can be reduced and the substance of a lifetime of work can be put to both charitable and personal uses rather than being paid to the government in taxes.

Women entrepreneurs network in northern suburbs

The North Suburban Network of Women Entrepreneurs will hold its first open house on Tuesday evening, Oct. 22, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Embassy Suites Hotel in Deerfield. This free event is open to all who would like to meet and network with other women entrepreneurs, as well as to those interested in learning more about the northern suburb's first organization aimed at self employed women.

The North Suburban Network of Women Entrepreneurs was founded in November of 1990 and is patterned after the Network of Women Entrepreneurs, a successful downtown Chicago association. The new group's founding members, including President Rona Bezman of Deerfield based Bezman, Hirsch and Associates, recognized the wonderful resource and referral networking opportunities and support system the downtown group offered its members. Acutely aware of the lack of such an organization in the north and northwest suburbs, a core group began "putting out feelers" and accumulating favorable feedback from area businesswomen. The first meeting was held 10 months ago, and the group's membership has already reached half that of its downtown prototype.

Meetings are held on the fourth Tuesday of each month at the Embassy Suites Hotel, 1445 Lake Cook Rd., Deerfield. The Oct. 22 open house will offer friendly conversation, networking opportunities, membership information and light refreshments. Interested women may call Open House Chairperson Maxine Katz at (708)205-9720.

Boundaries include Libertyville on the north, Lincolnwood on the south, Evanston of the east and Arlington Hts. on the west.

How to control compulsive overeating
September 25, 1991 7-8 p.m.
Presented by:
Mary Speno, Ph.D.
Staff Psychologist
Saint Therese Medical Center
If people only ate when they were truly "hungry" there would clearly be fewer who struggle with weight control problems. But people eat for many reasons other than to satisfy nutritional needs: depression, anxiety, boredom or simply to celebrate special events. Sometimes these eating habits become so automatic that they are difficult to control, resulting in weight control problems and related health risks.
Dr. Speno is a clinical psychologist who has helped many individuals develop greater understanding and control of their compulsive eating patterns. This presentation will offer protocol strategies everyone can use to develop more healthy eating patterns.

in finding a job which allowed her to fill the dual roles of good parent and employer.

PIC Board president Carol Passalaqua closed the awards breakfast with a summary of the year's activities.

"I am pleased to report that PIC provided services to over 1,000 clients, including youth and adults over the 1990-91 year," Passalaqua said.

"As chairperson of the PIC's Board of Directors, I'm particularly proud of PIC's accomplishments durnition," Depke told audience members.

"It is their teamwork that makes what started out as an idea—business and government working together toward a common goal, reality."

Participant and award winner Donna Sanders described the difficulties she encountered as a single parent of six children trying to find employment.

"PIC helped me when I couldn't think straight," Sanders said. She added that PIC counselors assisted her ing the past year," she concluded.

PIC's award breakfast was held in conjunction with the National JTPA Alumni recognition week. As part of that week, the Lake County Board, and the villages of Gurnee, Lindenhurst, Vernon Hills, Round Lake, and Zion passed resolutions declaring their support for PIC's efforts and noting the council's positive impact on citizens throughout the county.

Alumni honored at the breakfast included Willie Adams, Marcus Hall, Donna Sanders, Carla Tolbert, Denice Dennis, Isabel Villarreal, Cynthia Diebold, Anthony Gizewski, Derrick Davis, Alicia Johnson, Hector Rivera, Pat Zagone, Marisa Shockley, Latina Brown, and Judson Moore. Seminars show new opportunities in Soviet market

'We have a need here and they have a need there. It's a matter of meeting those needs and transferring that into profit in U.S. dollars,'— Harry Lepinske

by DEBRA A. SCHWARTZ
Lakeland Newspapers

As Soviets continue to have a shortage of flour, sugar, butter and other staples, interest in the region continues to grow among business speculators.

"Their chicken farms are having a sanitation problem. A lot of the chickens have died from salmonella. They need basic training in how to raise chickens," said Lyons Township Supervisor Harry Lepinske, who for many years has kept a home in Wauconda.

Lepinske, originally from McCullom Lake in McHenry County, returned from the Siberian region five days before the coup. There, he was in Magadan, helping develop advanced programs for the Vocational Institute.

By profession, Lepinske is an international marketing consultant who has lectured in Panama; Beijing, China at the Institute of Science and Technology and other points on the globe.

Though he has gained prominence in international marketing, he began his career with a bachelor's degree in English, history and psychology from DePaul University in Chicago. Just shy of a masters degree in international affairs, Lepinske was recently invited to continue his studies at the Institute of Contemporary Social Studies in Moscow.

Once his degree is completed, Lepinske would serve as a faculty advisor and help the school develop a management program. "I'm planning on doing that," he said. It means spending a few weeks in Moscow then returning to his Western Springs home. However it is from his condominium at Harbor Club that he will design the program.

"I keep my research and files in Wauconda. When people see me out on the pier fishing at night, I'm carrying my pad of paper and my notes out there. I spend as much time as possible there.

"Here, I'm away from the telephone, I can read without disturbances. In another year, year and a half, I may move to Wauconda permanently," Lepinske said. He's debating whether to run for office again, he said, because on the average he receives two invitations per week to teach in the Soviet Union as well as Poland, Bulgaria and Albania.

International Marketing Services, Ltd., of which Lepinske is president, will host two timely seminars beginning at 9 a.m. Oct. 10 at Illinois Center in Chicago. New opportunities in the Soviet market is the thrust of the program.

Discussing financial engineering through methods of unconventional financing will be Leo G.B. Welt. A native of Berlin, (West) Germany, he is president of Welt International Corporation, a Washington, D.C.-based export trading company and considered a leader in the field of creative financing. The session, scheduled from 9 a.m. until noon, will cost $145.

From 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., Lepinske will discuss new trends in Soviet marketing and advertising. The workshop will review basic resources for research, provide an update and review of Soviet trends, and take an industry look at how to reach potentail cleints in the region. The session is $75. Both seminars may be attended for $200.

Lake County farmers, Lepinske said, could become involved with Soviets by helping "with some basic education, simple training program — storage on the farm, for instance. Our people know how to harvest. There are agricultural groups that are being formed and some farmers are going over to the Soviet Union and working as supervisors on farms. A lot are just going over there and volunteering," he said, adding a long-term committment of time is necessary to due to planting, growing and harvesting seasons.

One Soviet group recently in Chicago was interested in bartering for restaurant equipment and technologies, Lepinske said. The group was also interested in making contacts for generating business in the hotel, restaurant and banking industries, he said.

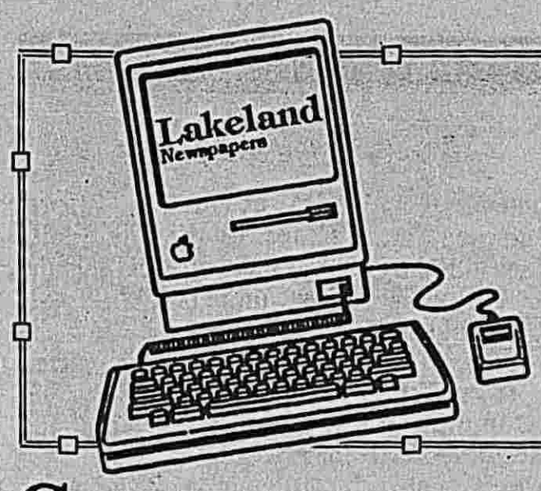

Cautioning on the impulsiveness of plunging into trade with Soviets, Lepinske stressed the creativity necessary in financing ventures in the region. "There are no guidelines. We have a need here and they have a need there. It's a matter of meeting those needs and transferring that into profit in U.S. dollars," he said.

In addition to the need for technical and management services with Soviets, Lepinske also sees a tremendous opportunity for service organizations, marketing consultants and consumer goods such as hats, coats, Levis. However he said the top two priorities are agriculture and health.

MAKE IT A POINT

FINANCIAL '91

So you want to start your own business...

If you have ever thought about opening a small business of your own, you should know that there is nothing small about the amount of skill, hard work, perseverance, and time needed to start a small business. Even a small business can call for a big investment in time, money and energy, advises the Illinois CPA Society.

Operating your own business involves risks as well as opportunities. You must realize that as your own boss, there's no such thing as 'quitting time'—and a regular paycheck, fringe benefits and vacation time may quickly become luxuries you need to sacrifice.

Owning a business is a major commitment, one that should never be taken lightly. To be successful, you will need a well-conceived idea, sound planning, management experience, and ample capital. CPAs offer the following start-up advice.

The First Steps

For many prospective business owners, the hardest part is determining a feasible business concept. If you are searching for an idea, begin by reflecting on your own experiences and-more-interests. Then try brainstorming with family and friends. Stay alert to new lifestyle and population trends that may suggest new business opportunities. For example, some experts characterize the nineties as the decade of elder care. This type of information can help you develop a business idea that will fill an anticipated need.

Once you have an idea, it is important to research it and test the waters. Some people are so convinced about the soundness of their ideas that they bypass research altogether. Few mistakes can be as devastating. Bounce your business ideas off others whose judgment you trust. Other entrepreneurs are often an excellent source for feedback on your ideas. You may be surprised at how willing owners of non-competing businesses are to share their knowledge and experience with someone who is just starting. Read trade publications and talk to others in the business. Throughout the process, keep in mind that the key to succeeding is to offer what people want to buy and not what you want to sell.

You will need to define the market for your product or service. You should know exactly who and where your potential customers are. Learn everything you can about the values, tastes, and buying habits of your market before you proceed.

On Your Own or Part of a Team?

One of the early decisions you will face is deciding on the appropriate structure of business ownership. This important decision has far-reaching tax, financial, and legal implications. You may operate your business as a sole proprietor, partnership, or corporation. There's no right answer—the best structure for your business must be based on your individual circumstances.

A sole proprietorship is an unincorporated business owned by one individual who gets to make all the decisions, run the business, and keep the profits. But with sole control comes sole responsibility. A sole proprietor is personally liable for the obligations of the business.

A partnership is like a sole proprietorship except that it is owned by more than one person. Like a sole proprietorship, partners are inseparable from their business. The advantage of a partnership is that it often opens the door to increased capital, a greater diversity of skills, and even a heightened business energy.

A corporation is a legal entity distinct from those parties or individuals that own it. As such, corporations offer limited liability. The owners of a corporation are its stockholders, who collect part of the business' profits. You will want to consult with an attorney or a CPA who can advise you on the best structure for your business.

The Business Plan

Experts often compare a business plan to a road map: it identifies the who, what, where, when, why and how of a business. A business plan can help you organize your thoughts and observations, point out potential problems that require more thought and analysis, and guide you through a maze of business decisions. Your plan should include a detailed description of the business, an inventory of your skills and those of other key members, an explanation of your market, information about your competition, management policies, marketing and distribution strategies, and a financial plan.

Where Do You Go for Help?

You will probably need the services of an attorney and a CPA to help you get your business up and running. Don't try to cut corners here. Hiring a professional is a sensible investment. An attorney should play an integral role in any decision with legal implications—such as contracts, leases, notes, and partnership agreements. A CPA can offer indispensable advice on a wide range of business matters including determining start-up costs; establishing an accounting system to track expenses, inventory costs, accounts receivable, debt obligations and income; as well as guiding your business through the complexities of taxes.

How Do You Get Financing?

For the most part, you will have to depend on your own savings and such resources as loans on your insurance policies or on the equity in your home. Many new entrepreneurs also turn to relatives and friends.

Deadline questions place village, developer at odds

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

The Village of Grayslake and a developer could be headed for a court case regarding the validity of a 10-year old annexation agreement.

Grayslake Associates, developers of Hunters Ridge, presented plans for a second unit of single-family homes at the Grayslake Plats and Subs Committee meeting Tuesday. Committee members, stating they are basing their opinion on advice from village attorney Earl Hoover, contend it is too late to begin the process for unit two since a 10-year annexation agreement expires Oct. 19.

"Our request is allowed under alternative uses," William Hurley, attorney for Grayslake Associates, said.

All the committee members and Mayor Marv Smith agreed the plans which include 6,000 square foot lots and a maximum of 8,000 square foot lots in the 37-unit development are too dense. Also, questions were raised regarding the status of negotiation with Grayslake Community Park Dist. and the schools. The land is 11 acres bounded on the west by the Lake County Fairgrounds and is south of Center St.

"To suggest everything disappears Oct. 19 creates real problems. It creates a vacuum which we do not feel is appropriate," Hurley said.

"We established a minimum lot size and we did it for a reason. I don't see why we should allow that unless we get something big in return," Trustee Randy Bussone said.

The area is presently zoned general business and the village contends if no approval is granted, the general business zoning would remain and other special clauses would become invalid.

A letter from the Grayslake Community Park Dist. Executive Dir. John Wilson was presented in which it states Hunters Ridge had not met with them to discuss park plans.

Robert Russell, chairman of the plats and subs committee, cited the density as well as the lack of payment of school donation fees for Hunters Ridge unit I. "I will not recommend approval until they are paid," he said bluntly.

Kenneth James of Grayslake Associates told the committee the second unit would be a different product line which would appeal to starter families who could not afford homes in the first unit. Grayslake officials said the first unit is about half built.

The committee instructed Hurley to work with the park district to iron out the differences.

"It is not up to the board to create homes that will sell," Trustee Melinda Willen said.

"The agreement is in place and we feel the park and school issues have been resolved," Hurley said.

"You are increasing your residential development, therefore you must increase the park land," Smith said.

Russell said areas such as detention would not be counted as park donation.

Hurley declined comment after the committee meeting.

Scout, Habitat benefit from first Housewalk

While those attending the Habitat for Humanity Housewalk admire the Victorian architecture of the old homes, a group of local Scouts will be earning a merit badge.

The Boy Scout Troop 96 of St. Gilbert Church put up signs advertising the Sept. 21 Housewalk from 10 to 6 p.m. in Grayslake. Mike Marguerite used the effort as his "star" project.

Four homes will be shown Saturday, including: the Pakieser-Reed home at 182 south Lake St., Kachmar House at 126 south Lake St., the Lee Home at 112 south Lake St and the Watson Home at 82 south Lake St. Also to be shown will be St. Andrew's Episcopal Church at 31 Park Ave. Parking will be available at St. Gilbert's Church until 4:30 p.m.; Lakeview Elementary School off Lake St., United Protestant Church-municipal lot, off Whitney and Park Sts. and Grayslake Community High School. A shuttle bus will provide transportation from the lot to the houses. Tickets are $15 the day of the housewalk, $12 in advance.

A look at some of the features of the homes and the church:

Pakieser-Reed: the home, built around 1900, still has many of its original windows. Many renovations were made over the last 20 years, adding 1,080 square feet of living space. The addition features large windows overlooking Gray's Lake and the renovation was the work of architect Dan Robison of Gurnee. The house features the folk art of Catherine Grunewald. Floral designer is Reed-Hills Florist of Grayslake.

The Kachmar home: the house for many years was home for the Rich family. To accommodate both sides of the family, several rooms were divided in half. The house features a 1700s pine server in the living room and a tiger oak dining cabinet. Floral designer is Floral Express of Hainesville.

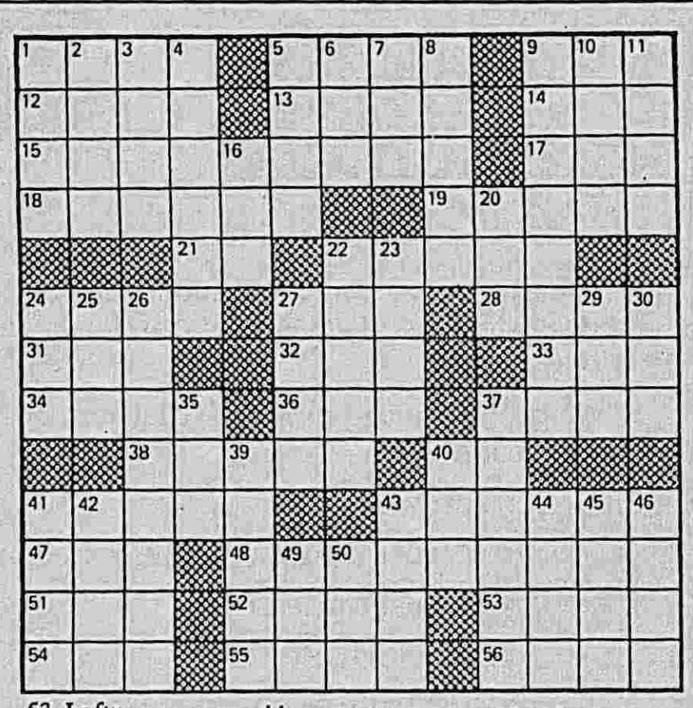

The Lee home: this home was built in 1893 by a village banker. David McCallum designed the new exterior millwork. Pam Rawles of Designs in Context was the interior designer. Floral designer is Leider's Garden Greenery of Grayslake.

The Watson home: is believed to have been build in the 1894. Early residents there include the Druce Family and Warren Chad, who served as Grayslake mayor. The home has its original pine and oak woodwork and windows. An upstairs bathroom was decorated in the 1960s. The country theme was remodeled by the Watsons. Floral designer was Barb's Florist of Hainesville.

St. Andrew's Episcopal Church: built in 1927 the original altar is still there. The sanctuary is quite small with a seating capacity of 150. There are 34 stained glass windows. The church features a new bell which was cast in Holland. The church will be open until 5 p.m. Artwork by Rosemary Babikan will be displayed.

Habitat, which will benefit from the proceeds, is one of 500 affiliates of Habitat International. Its goal is to build affordable housing. The first home was built last year in North Chicago. Those selected to live in the homes contribute 500 hours of "sweat equity" with a 20-year mortgage. The housewalk funds will be sued to begin construction of the third home.

Gurnee man sentenced for role in firearms case

A Gurnee resident was sentenced last week by a judge to serve two years in federal prison after being convicted of conspiracy to traffic stolen firearms charge.

George Gentry was given the sentence by Federal judge Brian Duff. Gentry's cousin, Kevin, will be sentenced Nov. 15.

The Gentrys allegedly entered a Daleville, Ala. pawn shop Dec. 19, 1990 and stole 15 handguns. Nine of the handguns were recovered after a raid at a Wheeling home Dec. 24, 1990. Charlie Berry, age 20, of Wheeling was sentenced to 10 months in a federal prison and Norman Rosseland, age 22, was sentenced to one year in federal prison.

Jerry Singer, special agent for the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms said the arrests were part of "Operation Trigger Lock". It is targeted at career criminals.

Bungee

are reinforced with a cotton braid. A system of three to five cords is used in this country, while in Europe and New Zealand, they prefer a one-cord apparatus. The rig I used included chest and groin harnesses, but ankle hook-ups are used by some enthusiasts.

At Drastic Elastic, Tom strictly enforces a "safety ratio" of 10-1, and I just made the cut.

A new bungee cord has a maximum tensile strength of 4,000 pounds. In the most extreme situation, a cord has a minimum tensile strength of 500 pounds, and that's the figure Tom uses.

Five cords times 500 pounds equals 2,500 pounds, and that's a 10-1 ratio to my 250 pounds of rippling muscle. (OK, OK, but it was muscle.)

In fact, I had planned to jump two weeks before I actually did the deed, but the circumstances wouldn't allow the use of a five-cord system that day. And, Tom wouldn't compromise his safety standards.

"I feel comfortable with the calculations involved, but you have to test it yourself," Tom said. That's how he uses his math degree from U of V.

When you jump from 150 feet, you free-fall for 50 feet and then decelerate with the help of the bungee cords for another 50 feet. Your first recoil is 70 percent of the total fall, or 70 feet.

Drastic Elastic also offers bungee jumping from a hot-air balloon, but that must be accomplished early in the morning or in the evening when the wind is calm. And, the weight limit is a svelte 215 pounds.

"With the balloon, you don't get as good a recoil," Tom said. "But you kill two birds with one stone — most people haven't been up in a hot-air balloon. It's the total trip."

Adding to the fun for real bungee enthusiasts is the fact that it's illegal to jump from a bridge in every state except Oregon. Tom said his most memorable jump is a 180-foot leap from a Minneapolis bridge just before the local militia arrived.

Tom is on the board of directors for the North American Bungee Association. He said the number of companies offering the bungee adrenaline rush has risen dramatically in the last year, although most of those firms are in the western states.

About 40 people have their ups and downs with Drastic Elastic every weekend, Tom said. Included in the package are two jumps and a video of your experience. Call (312) 642-9696.

You have to be at least 18, but there doesn't seem to be any limit on the other end of the age spectrum. Tom said a 67-year-old man has been the oldest to go for it with Drastic Elastic. Tom said after his second jump, the guy said something about his juices flowing and took off after a couple of young female spectators.

Which reminds me of the time my good friend Badlands Dupree and I had Harleyed up to the Corn Festival in Mitchell, S.D. There, in front of the Corn Palace, we witnessed a strange ritual. An old Indian chief standing on the sidewalk would raise his hand and say, "Chance," every time a woman passed by. We approached the chief, and I asked, "Chief, we always thought Indians raised their hands and said, 'How.' What's the deal?" The chief replied, "I already know how, bonehead — I just want a chance."

But seriously folks, I just flew down from 150 feet, and boy, am I lucky my arms aren't broken. I used to be high on life, but I got scared and climbed down.

Anyway, I was preparing to eat dirt as I shot downward. But then — BOING — I was going up again. No, I'm going down again. No, it's back up.

The recoils became shorter and shorter. A wave of relief came over me, and I began laughing like a lunatic as they lowered me to the ground.

I was safe, and I wouldn't do that again at gunpoint.

"You ready to go again?" Tom asked. "You can go backwards this time."

Yeah, like I could say no.

Stacy Wietrecki is the first person in the world to conquer the rare disease, syringomyelia, and now serves as national director of children's networking for ASAP (American Syringomyelia Project). Stacy can do it for five minutes. Stacy is shown with her parents, Stan and Shari, brother, Shane, and cats, Shadow and Skeeter.—Photos by Tom Banach

Spirited teen, first to conquer rare disease

'I'd give you the world if it were mine to give, but it's neither mine to give nor yours to take. But it can be ours to share.'—Anonymous

It's the right thing to do, to do what you believe in. Staci Wietrecki wouldn't have it any other way, and she'll tell that to you straight out. There's no time to waste.

Wietrecki describes herself as outspoken, something of an understatement. "I speak my mind and if people don't like it, they don't have to listen," said the 14-year-old Mundelein High School student. Wietrecki was named national director of children's networking for the American Syringomyelia Alliance Project. She is the only person in the world to successfully undergo surgery for syringomyelia and not come out with some symptom of the disease—usually a degree of paralysis.

by DEBRA A. SCHWARTZ

At the Lake County Fair this year, Wietrecki, president of the Mundelein Muskrats 4-H Club, won best of show for her speech on recycling and landfills, which was submitted at the State Fair where she received a superior rating—the best available. At the County Fair, she also won a blue ribbon for her first-aid poster about cuts and bruises; a grand champion for her Kids for Conservation project as well as the craft reference book she designed for the fair's 4-H competition. Grand champion is the second highest rating one can receive. Wietrecki is now a 4-H ambassador who will promote the club in Washington, D.C. and other points in the country next year.

In her spare time, she babysits for $2 per hour. The ideal employee, she chooses to turn all her earnings back into her job. "You don't do anything you really need to get paid for," she said. "I take the kids to the park, do crafts with the kids. I think the kids like doing crafts. When you get older in school, you don't do crafts anymore, so most of the time when I get paid, I put it towards crafts for them," she said.

Her specialty is taking care of children with special needs. Here, she operates by instinct. Wietrecki was born into a family where some members have physical disabilities. Both her "nanas" worked with special needs children for "a long time," she said.

The future is a big place for Wietrecki, who almost every month changes her mind about what carreer lies ahead in her path. "I think I want to be a lawyer because I'm very outspoken," she said. After investigating a job with an attorney handling children's cases and who works with people who have special needs, she became interested in that aspect of law. However she has also looked into teaching and physical therapy. "Last month I was going to be a journalist and the month before I was going to be a veterinerian," she said.

Wietrecki is as lucky as they come. Syringomyelia is rarely diagnosed before the victim loses at least some motor control. The disease is a fluid-filled cyst within the spinal cord that destroys the cord from within, Wietrecki said. It is often accompanied by a chari , a malformation where the base of the skull does not grow to normal size, which causes the brain to be pulled down and wrapped around the spinal cord. As a result, it doesn't let spinal fluid go to the brain, which could result in disabling or other means of paralysis, Wietrecki explained.

She has both, but also has a neurosurgeon, Dr. Jeff Cozzens with Evanston Hospital, who immediately identified the disease and rushed her into surgery. That was two years ago.

Before the surgery, life was different. "I went from doctor to doctor to doctor and they couldn't explain what was wrong with me," she said. "They thought I had flexible scoliosis, and as I got older, I started having spasms in my chest and in my back and had a knee that would go out at times. I'd be riding a bike and my knee would go out —it would just hang there— and I would fall off the bike. It wouldn't last and I'd get up and back on the bike," Wietrecki said.

The disease can affect anyone at any age. There is suspicion that it is a congenital birth defect but due to the rareness of syringomyelia, research is limited.

ASAP, formed five years ago, is seeking donations and volunteers in an effort to start a research center in the country. It is also trying to let children know about it's existence; hence, Wietrecki's new position.

Veterans, Lions close to Montressor's heart

InterViews

Seventy-two-year-old Robert Montressor is quick to say he's "completely retired." Then, he'll show you a list of civic involvements that would wear out a person half his age.

Montressor is a lifetime member of no less than eight veterans organizations, and he's about to close out his 20th year as a member of the Fox Lake Lions Club.

He's a past commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9655 and Disabled Veterans Post 120, and he was awarded the coveted VFW All-State Commanders Award for 1988-89. He's been the president of three different Lions clubs from Springfield to Hickory Hills to Fox Lake. He's earned the Lions' highest honor, The Melvin Jones Fellowship Award, for "doing everything asked plus more."

Robert Montressor

Why such a devotion to veterans affairs?

"Because I think veterans have often been overlooked," Montressor said. "We don't pay enough attention to them."

He cited the hedging by congress last year on the 5-percent cost-of-living raise for disabled veterans. Although congress did pass the measure, vets were forced to sweat it out.

Montressor knows all about disabled vets. He's one himself, although you'd never guess it. He spent 1941-45 fighting in the Pacific with the 40th Division, 160th Infantry and later became a Ranger. He took part in 41 pre-invasion landings and earned seven Purple Hearts, the Bronze Star, the Silver Star and numerous campaign ribbons.

He still carries a metal plate in his head and several shrapnel scars as reminders of his WW II heroics.

"I think that will explain all my actions," Montressor joked about the plate in his head.

Montressor spent two years in a veterans hospital after the war — he had caught shrapnel in his spinal column and was a paraplegic for those two years.

In a similar fashion, misfortune endeared the Lions to Montressor. His stepfather had been blind in one eye after a childhood accident. Through the efforts of the Lions, Montressor's stepfather underwent surgery and regained some sight in the injured eye and had his vision enhanced in the other eye.

On a national scale, Lions and Lioness clubs have been at the forefront of helping the blind and other people in need of vision care for decades. In recent years, the clubs have moved into other areas.

"Sight, hearing, they're into everything now," Montressor said.

He recalled a time when he was president of the Fox Lake Lions and the three area clubs had just pledged over $300,000 to the Illinois Research Center.

A local woman was blind, but there was hope that procedures at the center could restore some of her sight. When the woman got to the center, she was told she needed $2,000 to be admitted. Montressor said he made a couple of calls to remind the center of the $300,000 in pledges — and the woman got her surgery and her sight.

Montressor's newest venture is as a member of the board of directors for the Northeastern Illinois Area Agency on Aging. He'll be the Lake County representative in the eight-county organization.

Montressor grew up in Phillip Park in DuPage County and went to York High School, where he starred in football. He went to Northwestern on a grid scholarship but had his career cut short by a broken collarbone.

After the war and his days in the VA hospital, Montressor worked for the Boy Scouts for eight years. Then, he moved into selling building supplies and eventually owned six floor-covering stores.

He's a past member of the Hickory Hills school board and served as Grant Township deputy assessor.

His veterans affiliations include the VFW, AmVets, Purple Heart, Disabled American Veterans, The National Association of Past Commanders of the VFW, Volunteers of Veterans Administration Hospitals and Cootie — an elite part of VFW. Within the Lions, he's a member of the Century Club and the Advanced Key Members Club.—by GREG MILLER

Duo delivers message with humor

Keen insights, powerful images and delightful humor characterize the original music of Lou and Peter Berryman, appearing in concert at 8 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 21 at the David Adler Cultural Center, 1700 N. Milwaukee, Libertyville.

The Berrymans are a songwriting duo from Madison, Wis. who have been entertaining audiences for 15 years. Melodies rooted in folk and Broadway styles carry the poetry, which is rich in satire and even-handed social comment.

Both sing as they accompany themselves on 12-string guitar and Stomach Steinway (a red accordion mounted on its own peg-leg).

Admission to the concert is $6 for adults, $4 for members, $3 for seniors and children, free for children four and under. Call (708)367-0707 for ticket information.

Exchanging currency abroad

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

For Europeans, where countries are as close together as states are here, exchanging currency is common for even short trips. However, since Wisconsin accepts the same money we use in Illinois, a trip to Europe may be our first encounter with foreign currency.

As soon as you arrive in a foreign country you will most likely have to start paying in that country's currency. All international airports will have currency exchange counters. Exchange only enough funds for the first day's expenses, since you will probably get a better rate at a bank in your city.

You can, however, avoid this additional delay upon your arrival, by purchasing a small amount of foreign currency before you travel. Your local bank should be able to supply you with most foreign currency, but allow them a couple of weeks to get it.

By purchasing your currency ahead of time you also have time to get used to it. Take time to translate the various denominations into U.S. dollars.

Carl Malden has told us enough about the security advantages of travelers checks. There is, however, an additional advantage when you exchange them for foreign currency. Quite often you will get a better exchange rate for travelers checks than for hard cash. I have also found that you can exchange American Express Travelers for foreign currency at their overseas offices with no service fees.

Exchange rates are much better in large cities than more remote areas. Like anything else, prices are lower where there is more competition.

Exchange only the amount of cash you think you will need. Any excess that must be converted back to U.S. dollars will involve another service fee. On the other hand, you usually pay a flat fee every time you exchange money, so you want to keep these transactions to a minimum.

By the way, if you are planning a trip to Mexico, as well as most ot the Caribbean Islands, don't worry about exchanging money. Your U.S. dollar will be cheerfully accepted.

Reel World

'The Pope Must Die' does

The fact that all British humor does not possess the comedy genius of "Monty Python" came painfully to the fore last year when the sub-mediocre "Nuns On the Run" hit our movie screens.

The British have landed again and this time they did it with a big media blitz concerning the title and (some say blasphemic) pics advertising "The Pope Must Die."

After seeing this flick, we are convinced that the controversial name and ad campaign is probably the only thing that will get people into the show to see this dismal imitation of a ZAZ (Zucker, Abrahams and Zucker) production.

Robbie Coltrane

The entire premise is that a corrupt Vatican, in the process of choosing a new Pope, mistakenly puts a good hearted boob in the place intended for one of the conspirators involved with an unscrupulous Cardinal.

Unlike ZAZ, this flick depends on a lot of slapstick, and lacks the clever word parodies found in other successful film satires.

Director-writer Peter Richardson seems to be under the impression that all one needs to get a laugh is to have someone in clerical garb emit an obscenity or say or do something that has a sexual connotation—not funny, where's the punch line?

The fact that there is none becomes increasingly evident as the reel unrolls.

It's a really dumb movie that should prove a disappointing draw both on the big and little screens.

Add to the fact that the movie isn't even worthwhile entertainment, needless to say a funny comedy, the irreverence that pokes fun at the Catholic Church becomes embarrassing and irritating.

There are still those of us over 30 that consider some things "sacred cows," not necessarily to be milked for our own benefit, but to be respected for those who revere such beliefs. Many of the sight gags make even non-believers a little uncomfortable.

Robbie Coltrane, who also starred in "Nuns," is no funnier in this one.

This reviewer kept on feeling that we had missed a chunk of the movie somewhere along the line, one that could turn some of these almost funny jokes around.

"Pope" goes to prove that treading on "sacred" ground while spouting passages from Joe Miller's Joke Book, does not a good comedy make.

We give this one, one star out of five for missing the laugh-boat entirely and for often crossing the boundaries of good taste—even the 1991 kind.—by GLORIA DAVIS

'Love, Sex and the IRS' a dud at Drury Lane

Critic's Choice

One character in "Love, Sex and the IRS" gets to slap the face of an Internal Revenue agent ("I've always wanted to do that!" she exclaims).

Another, playing an itinerant street preacher, is pressed into service to perform a spur-of-the-moment double-ring wedding ceremony.

And so it goes in the predictable comedy overwrought with cutesy bits as it follows the shenanigans two roommates—both male—go through when they find out the government is suspicious of the "marriage" status they have claimed in order to get an income tax deduction.

"Love, Sex and the IRS" is just the sort of confection known to give dinner-theater a bad name. Even the efforts of a well-polished cast can't fully salvage this dud at Drury Lane Theater in Evergreen Park.

Joseph Popp works himself into a tizzy as Leslie Arthur, who must fool the IRS that he's really a she. At the same time he must dodge a nosey landlord, cope with his best friend's hysteric mother and convince his girl friend that clothes don't make the man. His outlandish getup and behavior amuse, but only fleetingly.

Thomas Quinn seemed stilted at times as the pushy roommate, and Cynthia Judge was distant as his wavering fiancee.

But local stage veterans Lawrence McCauley, Dennis Kennedy, Nancy Baird, though in lesser roles, provided a nice balance with their unabashed portrayals.

Moreover, the theater's in-the-round stage, which usually lends a feeling of intimacy, had a downside in this production; positions taken by the actors on two occasions obscured views of the action.

"Love, Sex and the IRS" is scheduled to run through Oct. 20. Information on tickets for the show and dinner/theater packages is available at (708)422-0404.—by TOM WITOM

Island Lake Inn offers new look, new delights

The Island Lake Inn — moving toward its 20th anniversary — has added some new aesthetics to go with its downright delicious dining.

The restaurant was given a Southwestern-style touch during remodeling three months ago. Soothing mauve and green tones are a big part of the new look.

The Keres Brothers, who started the restaurant on the same site in 1972, have a simple philosophy: delicious home-cooked food at reasonable prices — "like it used to be."

One of the favorites is a tempting chicken and shrimp stir-fry with sugar snap, peas, sprouts, water chestnuts and other vegetables.

The restaurant also features several new breakfast dishes, including four-egg omelettes. Breakfast items are priced as low as $1.95.

You can beat the heat with a refreshing summer-special cold plate. One dish includes salmon, hard-boiled eggs, cottage cheese, potato salad, sliced tomatoes, melon and crackers.

And, you can even top it off with a banana split.

Beer and wine are served to enhance your dining pleasure.

A senior citizens menu, which is offered Monday through Friday, includes meals as low as $2.95. Items on the children's menu start at $1.35.

The Island Lake Inn is located at 310 E. State Rd. (Rte. 176) in Island Lake. The restaurant is open seven days a week from 6 a.m. until 11 p.m.

Nearby wonders provide outdoor experience

Life Outdoors for students now swings to afternoon and weekend options as school resumes.

The freedom of summer is not yet over, however, and plans can be made for family visits to nearby spots omitted in favor of longer summer trips.

Last week we visited Michigan City's big, on-the-water boat show. Pleasant warm weather was air conditioned by Lake Michigan breezes. This show has the advantage of being condensed into a concentrated area. Inspection of new boating equipment bobbing in the berths or displayed on shore in booths and tents is easily accomplished. Attendance met expectations, and a buying trend seemed apparent among both big and small nautical items.

Washington Park Beach, adjacent to the show, was providing family recreation for all ages. Kites seemed a favorite beach activity as they took advantage of a constant off-water breeze and flew with abandon to circle and dive back into the sand. Off-shore para-sails glided in smooth flight, towed by watercraft. Their connecting lines seemed nearly invisible as their bright colors suspended gracefully in the blue sky along the beach.

Col. Bill — Outdoors

Nearby two wonderful dunes parks are unique in nature's creations and provide outdoor experiences unduplicated in the Midwest. Indiana Dunes State Park and the National Dunes Lakeshore Park offer visitors an opportunity to appreciate and enjoy natures creations of moving sandhills.

Winds inch them inland as they surround and absorb lakeside trees and grasses. An extensive charter boat fishing fleet is also available for visitor use and may be incorporated into a weekend visit.

Information for visitor activities, food and lodging may be obtained from the Porter County visitor office by calling 1(800)823-TOUR.

Illinois' Lake Michigan beaches inherit their share of public residue as do all edges of our Great Lakes in the bordering states and Canada. "Debris or Not Debris..That is the Question." Shakespeare said it years ago, or something like it, but the problem exists today. To fight floating waste, volunteers are needed for the Great Lakes Beach Sweep, scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 21. They will be furnished gloves, bags and equipment as they patrol designated sectors in team action that also records and classifies the debris liberated.

This is a chance to right some of the wrongs of careless persons who have no idea of the trouble being caused by indifference. It also provides a good opportunity to spend a half day or so in an area that may be totally unfamiliar yet very interesting. Volunteers often go home with surprising tales to tell and a greater appreciation for helping nature overcome man's thoughtlessness. Plastics are a large portion of the refuse recovered and will be recycled. Sponsored in part by the Shedd Aquarium, this can be an educational experience for adults, while younger helpers are sure to have a better knowledge of our outdoor needs for care, consideration and conservation in the future.

Details are available by calling the Aquarium at (312)939-2426, for a memorable, educational experience.

Next week our wheels take us to observe yet another shoreline, the Mississippi River in the Quad City area close to Rock Island, with Davenport, Iowa across the river. River boats are an attraction as they ply the waters of a very scenic area which will soon be glowing with fall colors. Some visitors hope to combine nature's golden hues of fall with the gold of resplendent riverboat gambling tables. They hope to become double winners as they move from Mark Twain's rive lore to natures tours and hikes along the Great River Trail.

"There's not enough awareness among kids about the conferences," Weitrecki said. "I've never seen any there." As an attraction, Wietrecki will hold a workshop for children with syringomyelia at next year's Washinton D.C. conference. "They can talk about the pet peeves that we have. Like an open workshop where kids can talk and speak their minds," she said. Wietrecki is also coordinating a page in the ASAP newsletter for kids, who she calls anyone less than 18 years old. The page will include pictures, poems and other writings from members. ASAP does not charge dues.

For more information in ASAP, contact Stanley Wietrecki in Mundelien at 949-5228 or the national organization at (903)236-7079 or P.O. Box 1586, Longview, Texas, 75606-1586. Ask for Donna or Bob White. The above quote was taken from an ASAP Christmas card. It is Wietrecki's favorite.

At Home

Winter warning: Don't seal the attic

Contrary to popular belief, closing up all the vents in an attic is not the best way to keep a house warm in winter. In fact, according to the American Society of Home Inspectors (ASHI), sealing up the attic vents can actually increase heating costs and cause significant damage.

During cold weather, the experts say, attics should be cold, and as dry as possible. However, in most homes, moisture escapes from the living area and drifts upward from showers, unvented clothes dryers, humidifiers, and kitchen ranges.

If this moisture gets trapped in an improperly ventilated attic in winter, it condenses on the underside of the roof and may appear as water drops or mildew on the sheathing, frost on roofing nails, or water stains on wood rafters. Even water stains on the ceiling of the floor below, which homeowners frequently mistake for signs of a roof leak, can be caused by attic moisture condensation.

In extreme cases, attic condensation and moisture can make insulation so wet that it loses its insulating value. This actually increases heat loss from the living area and accelerates moisture damage.

The professional home inspectors of ASHI recommend that home owners take these steps to ensure necessary ventilation:

1. Leave attic vents (at the ridge, soffits, and gale ends) open all year to allow moist air to escape.

2. Weatherstrip attic access hatches and caulk around attic plumbing stacks to prevent moisture and warm house air from escaping into the attic.

3. Make sure the vapor barrier is under the attic floor insulation, next to the warm ceiling below, to block rising moisture.

4. Use exhaust fans when cooking, bathing, or doing laundry to ensure that moisture-laden air is expelled to the exterior of the house. Make sure that the vents don't terminate in the attic but are routed directly to the outside.

5. Check the attic to make sure there is enough vent area: A general rule of thumb is one square foot of venting for every 300 square feet of attic floor, provided there is a vapor barrier.

Health department offers free cholesterol booklet

September is Cholesterol month and the Lake County Health Dept. is offering a free booklet to help watch ones cholesterol level. "Eat Right to Lower Your Blood Cholesterol" explains in simple terms the importance of reducing high cholesterol and focuses on food choices and preparation. The booklet also contains a special tear out card to take shopping listing "foods to choose."

In addition, the Health Dept. suggests all adults age 20 and older have their total blood cholesterol measured during this month, especially it has never been tested. "Ideally total blood cholesterol level should be less than 200," said Dr. Steven R. Potsic, executive director of the Health Dept. "Levels between 200 and 240 are considered borderline high, and more than 240 is definitely of concern" Dr. Potsic explained that a total blood cholesterol level higher than 240 means that person generally has more than twice the risk of heart attack of someone with a total blood cholesterol level of 200 or less.

Regarding children and cholesterol, the National Cholesterol Education Program suggests that they only need to be tested if they have a family history of high cholesterol levels and/or heart disease, particularly those with a parent who suffered a heart attack before age 50.

For a copy of "Eat Right to Lower Your High Blood Cholesterol," or for answers to any other questions, call the Lake County Health Dept. at (708)360-6716.

Fear giant swampland without dredging work

The Chain O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Agency is working on a reply to the recent Cease and Desist order issued by the U.S. Army Corps. of Engineers, IDOT-Division of Water Resources, U.S.E.P.A. and other agencies.

The Waterway Agency excavated a large, dangerous sandbar in the Fox Valley Gardens area south of Rawson Bridge in eastern McHenry County. The dredged material was sidecast as part of a Waterway Agency pilot wetland restoration project which included reconstruction of an eroded 600 foot long peninsula.

In a meeting with Corps. officials, they stated that if the Agency were to file for a sidecasting permit review, the Corps. emphasized that it would take two to three years just to review those applications. After the review there is no guarantee that the permit would be issued, agency officials reported.

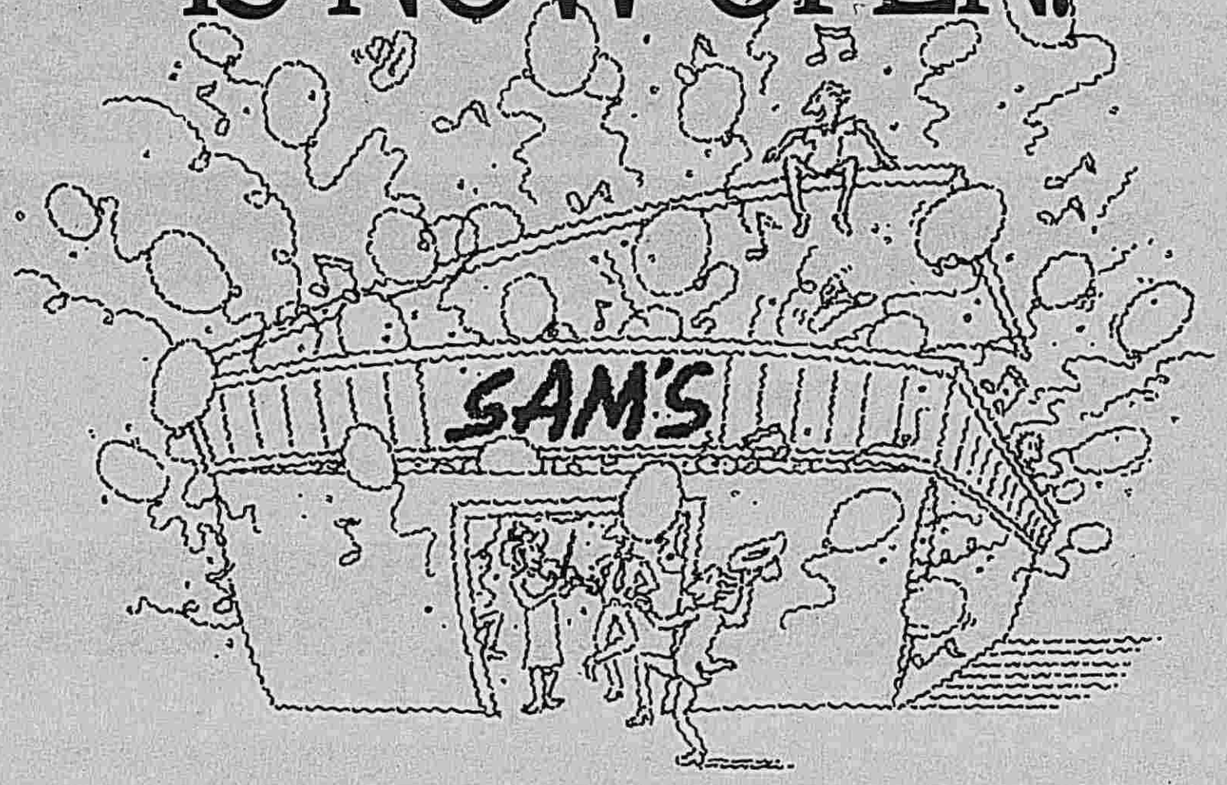

For almost two years the issue of wetland restoration has been discussed with the various regulatory agencies, but to no avail. Waterway Agency officials fear that if this issue and the ability to sidecast are repeatedly denied the waters of the Chain O' Lakes, Fox River and their adjoining channels will become a giant swampland in a period of less than 20 years.

Hundreds of property owners in the Spring Grove Lotus Woods, Fox Lake Vista, Vacation Village and other lake areas surrounding Nippersink Lake and Creek areas are already experiencing this situation and have demanded that their area be excavated by sidecasting into the wetlands and adjoining shores. Present regulations prohibit such dredging methods.

The Waterway Agency plans on contacting boaters and waterfront property owners in Lake and McHenry Counties to seek support for sidecasting and wetland restoration programs. Interested parties can contact the Agency at P. O. Box 451, Fox Lake, Ill., 60020 with their comments and support prior to the start of this campaign.

Edgar approves Schaffer boat noise legislation

Gov. Jim Edgar has given final approval to legislation sponsored by Sen. Jack Schaffer (R-McHenry Co.) that regulates boat noise on Illinois waterways.

Senate Bill 426 requires motorboats to be equipped with mufflers that meet federal noise levels, with the exception of boats participating in a race or a regatta, or boats being tested by a manufacturer.

"I think 90 decibels, which is the federal level, is reasonable. We're not trying to be heavy-handed and spoil anyone's fun, but we are trying to protect those people on the shores who are being blasted with noise from these large 'muscle' boats," Sen. Schaffer said.

The legislation was introduced in response to complaints in the Chain O'Lakes area by homeowners, fishermen, and hunters who are offended by the noise created when owners of the large motorboats do not use mufflers, according to Sen. Schaffer. Illinois law addressing motorboat mufflers did not deal with the problem of noise until now.

"If boat owners do not comply with this law, they will be ticketed. Penalties have been established for violations, and fines will range from about $500 to as much as $10,000 for different offenses," Sen. Schaffer said.

'I think 90 decibels, which is the federal level, is reasonable'.—Sen. Schaffer

The legislation takes effect on Jan. 1, 1992.

HENDRICKS

FLOOR PLAN
OVERALL DIMENSIONS: 68'-0" X 56'-0"
LIVING: 1598 square feet
GARAGE: 694 square feet

HENDRICKS (400-31)
By Landmark Designs, Inc.

Clean, simple lines combine with an efficient interior floor plan to make the no-nonsense Hendricks a relatively inexpensive home to build.

A circular traffic flow pattern allows access to the sleeping wing from either the kitchen, at the back of the home, the front entry, or the garage. Weekend anglers, mechanics and gardeners can clean up their messes in a custom deep sink, located in the workshop area of the two-car garage.

Skylights brighten the entry hall as well as a covered deck in the back. Access to the deck is from the kitchen/dining area and through a utility room, complete with an extra storage area and a seat for shucking off muddy boots. Two more storage closets are located along the front hallway.

The country kitchen opens into a great room with a fire place. Although designed to serve the functions of living room and dining room, less formal families might prefer to use the space as one large family room. The large kitchen features a free-form snack bar, commodious pantry and generous counter space.

All three sleeping rooms are close together, allowing parents to respond quickly to children with night-time emergencies. The master suite has a huge walk-in closet and a private bath with compartmentalized water closet. The other two bedrooms share a bathroom.

For a study plan of the HENDRICKS (400-31), send $7.50 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name and number when ordering). Designers, Architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

Libertyville High's Nicholas

Operating scoreboard a labor of love for family

They know the score

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

They are easy to spot in the first floor of the Libertyville High School press box.

From there, Nick Nicholas III and his sons, Harold and Nick IV and Harold, can enjoy a bird's eye-view of Libertyville Wildcat football each Saturday the Wildcats are at home. This particular Saturday is an important one as the family Nicholas will not only be at its familiar perch operating the scoreboard, but this Saturday is the first day for the new scoreboard. The scoreboard was donated by funds from the student council and booster club.

"I started out doing it (the scoreboard) from the top row of the bleachers. In the rain, we would get wet and sometimes it would shock you," Nick Nicholas recalled. He has been the man on the scoreboard since 1958.

Nicholas Sr. can remember indeed the days of the manual scoreboard, long before today's computer programmed scoreboards and two-year old press boxes. The newest models, like those at Stevenson and Libertyville High Schools, have tenths of a second capabilities. "The old scoreboards did not have ball possession and you could not tell yards per say," Nicholas stated. "Some things you used to do by ear."

While Nicholas did not play sports at LHS, the member of the 1940 graduating class, says he found his time in high school often spent along the sidelines. These days, he is helped with the new Fair Play scoreboard by sons Nick III and Harold.

The Nicholas family is a veteran Libertyville clan. Nicholas's father was one of the first alderman and a park, Nicholas-Dowden, is named after him.

Nick III coached for many years at Zion-Benton High School as defensive coordinator. He stopped coaching in 1985 when his son, Warren, began his LHS sports career. Warren, who attended University of Arizona, is now a runningback for the Lake County Vikings semi-pro team.

And who knows, one of these days Wildcat fans may look up to the press box and see yet another generation of Nicholas's.

Overtime

Football notes: with two games into the season, this week starts a weekly feature, the top five. This week's top five area teams include unbeatens: Lake Zurich, Warren and Johnsburg as well as 1-1 teams Round Lake and Libertyville. Lake Zurich faces perhaps the toughest test of the unbeatens Sept. 20 at home against Woodstock. The Bears have scored more than 70 points in the first two games, wins over Momence and Grant. But the annual playoff team Blue Streaks could show Coach Wayne Kukliński's team just how far it has come since last year's 1-8 record. The game also marks Lake Zurich's first in the Fox Valley Conference...Warren Coach Reggie Hughes now has an example of the old adage "you play as you practice." Earlier in the week, he joined in a drill which featured the Warren goal-line stand. Sure enough, the Blue Devils needed a goal-line stand to stop Dundee-Crown in the first half en route to a 14-13 win...It appears the Johnsburg Skyhawks are indeed for real this year. They secured at least a 2-2 non-conference record after a win over Harvard. Northwest Suburban Conference fans should not make any other plans for Friday, Oct. 11. Hire the babysitters now: that's when the Skyhawks host Round Lake at 7:30 p.m....How are the five NWSC teams faring in the four-week non-conference portion of the season? They are dead even at 6-6.

Quick-strike teams clash in annual Navy Day tilt

Sometimes, getting off to a good start can propel a team to victory. In other football instances, the quick strike method doesn't work and the other team rallies.

Warren and North Chicago both tried the score-first-and-hope-for-the best method in contests Friday, with differing results. Warren scored 14 points in the first quarter, then held on to beat Dundee-Crown 14-13. North Chicago scored first against Stevenson but lost 14-6.

"We feel we were never in doubt, but we keep other teams close," Warren Coach Reggie Hughes said.

North Chicago hosts Warren in the annual Navy Day game at NCCHS at 1 p.m. Sept. 21.

"We have to find some way to neutralize their quickness. There is no way you can emulate quickness in practice," Hughes said.

Warren comes into the game at 2-0, 1-0 in the North Suburban Conference. North Chicago is 0-2 in the NSC. The Warhawks have lost two close games, 12-7 to Lake Forest and 14-6 to Stevenson. Warren's Jeremy Wilmot made his only catch of the night count, as he grabbed a 45-yard TD pass from Craig Shelton and added the extra point for a 7-0 lead. Warren ran the ball for six yards twice and a key face-mask call against the Chargers put the ball into D-C territory.

Junior runningback Bob Olson scored Warren's second touchdown with a three-yard run with 5:55 left in the quarter. Olson was Warren's leading ground gainer with 118 yards in 13 tries.

The Blue Devils' defense took center stage in the last play of the first half. Dundee-Crown had the ball inside the Warren one-yard line, but a hit by Shelton kept the Chargers off the scoreboard.

"We were practicing that last week and I was driving him out of bounds. It was kind of a dejavu. It was a great job by the defense. They (D-C) did not have time to walk over and get an ice cube," Hughes said.

The Chargers were effective in the second half. Eric Musha capped off a drive with a 30-yard run. The extra point trimmed the lead to 14-7.

QB Tim Benton found Bryan Minier open for a 54-yard TD strike in the fourth quarter but this extra point try was missed.

Sequoits split 1-1 in NSC with loss to Lake Forest

by DOUG DUSIK
Lakeland Newspapers

Following Antioch's 15-0 shutout against Libertyville during Game No. 1, the Sequoits had a chance to look from the other side of the line when they lost to Lake Forest last week.

But even a bad example can be a good example.

"We run what they do," Coach Del Pechauer said. "They taught us a lot on how to stop our offense."

Despite the 26-7 spread — with the Scouts scoring three TD's in the final quarter — the name of last week's game was defense.

Only one score was gained in the first half, which saw Antioch force two fumbles from Lake Forest. The Scouts carried the ball 27 yards to put points on the board.

Strong defense continued in the second half. Lake Forest held the Sequoits to 36 yards on the ground. Antioch completed only three out of 18 passes.

But the Sequoits rallied in the third quarter when senior defensive end Brian Smith knocked down a pitch by the Lake Forest QB and ran the loose ball in 15 yards to tie the score 7-7.

Lake Forest was unstoppable in the final quarter, however, with a recovered Sequoit fumble turned in and two Scout touchdowns following.

"Fatigue might have been a factor," Pechauer said of the fourth quarter. "A lot of guys were not following their assignments — on both sides of the line."

Antioch faces NSC pre-season gavorite Stevenson High School at 1 p.m. Sept. 21 at ACHS. It is the third of four rough games. Warren, off to a 2-0 start, will be the Sept. 28 opponent.

"We can have a great game plan, but if the kids don't want to move, nothing's going to work," Pechauer said.

"We told them the next three games they can be 4-1 or 1-4. It's up to them. If they play like they did last Saturday, it's going to be a long year."

Defense, Carver's show leads CLC kickers in wins

A strong start in the Skyway Conference coupled with a record setting goal scoring performance has the College of Lake County's soccer team the early team to beat status in the league.

The Lancers are 3-0-1 after earning a hard-fought 3-3 tie against DuPage Friday. Earlier wins came against Elgin in a 5-1 win and McHenry 4-1.

CLC gave its soccer fans a match to remember when the Lancers scored a game-tying goal with four seconds left. Allen Noon's pass found Jamie Cervantes open. The shot went past the DuPage goalie for the 3-3 tie.

"It was a hard shot, but the question was if there was enough time left.," CLC Coach Dave Beck said.

CLC did have its chances in the overtime and scored a goal, but that was not allowed due to an offsides call.

Earlier, Joe Carver scored a CLC record four goals and had an assist in a 7-1 win at Kishwaukee.

Cervantes led the way in the matches against Elgin and McHenry as he had four goals and two assists. Cervantes was the leading scorer for Highland Park High's team last fall. "He has good ball skills. He is very good and he has good field position," Beck said of Cervantes.

"We played real good defense both games. They played like they were in mid-season defensively," Beck said.

CLC is at McHenry Sept. 20 in Crystal Lake and at Waubonsee Sept. 23 for conference matches.

Football and volleyball stars help college teams

Three area graduates will be looking to contribute to the fortunes of the Augustana College football team this fall.

They are: Mike Wagner, linebacker, a Warren Twp. High School in 1988; Paul Young, a 6-0, 205 pound junior linebacker who is a 1989 graduate from Libertyville High School and Nathan Schroeder, a 6-0, 220 pound middle guard who graduated from Wauconda High this year.

Augustana is ranked No. 1 in the nation in NCAA Division III schools according to the pre-season edition of The Sporting News. Vikings of head coach Bob Reade will be looking for their 11th straight NCAA Division III playoff appearance and their 10th College of Illinois and Wisconsin title in the past 11 years.

Elsewhere, at Northern Illinois University, Jeff Geary is a starting strong safety for the Huskies. Geary has 35 solo career tackles for the Huskies. The Mundelein High School graduate had eight tackles and one pass interception in the spring game. Last fall he was a backup free safety for the Huskies. In 1989 he started the final two contests in place of Brett Tucker and had 13 hits in his first career start vs. Toldeo, four tackles vs. Cincinnati and forced a fumble which led to a touchdown against Nebraska. He was a basketball, football and track standout for the Mustangs.

Also on the NIU roster from Lake County are Mike Duchane, a freshmen redshirt outside linebacker from Grayslake and David Wick of Lake Villa. Wick, a junior, transferred to NIU from Kansas.

NIU is at Kansas State Sept. 21.

Rachel Brooks, a former Round Lake Senior High School athlete, is a member of the women's cross country team at Augustana College. Brooks is a 1991 graduate of Round Lake. Last year the Vikings won their first College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin championship and won its 10th Illinois Small College title in 12 years.

The Lake Forest College volleyball team was 1-4 at the Carroll College tournament. The Lady Foresters only win was a 15-4, 15-13, 15-12 win over Chicago State. Senior Teri Huntington, a Warren Twp. High School graduate had 22 kills and three aces.

The Southwest Baptist University men's cross country team took second in the Wildcat Invitational at Baker University in Baldwin, Kansas. Round Lake High School graduate Adam Sullinger was 26th in 30:06. Southwest Baptist University is located in Bolivar, MO.

CLC runners claim first, third

The College of Lake County women's cross country team finished first while the men took third place in the Oakton Community College Invitational at Niles West High School.

CLC topped South Suburban as the two battled for the women's meet honors. Kim Dahm was first in 12:28 with a per mile time of 6:14, Lisa McDermott third in 13:540 with a per mile time of 6:55 and Lorena Barrea was fifth in 16:29 with a per mile time of 8:15.

In the men's race, Shane Warner was second overall with a 16:09, 5:23 per mile, Chris Scott was fifth with a time of 16:25, 5:28 per mile and John Frayer was 10th with a time of 17)6, 5:42 per mile.

Oakton won the men's race with Waubonsee second, CLC third, South Suburban fourth and Morton fifth.

CLC is at the Wombat Invitational in Sheybogan, Wis. Sept. 20.

In other CLC news, wrestlers are invited to a team meeting at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 22 at the physical education center. The first practice is Nov. 4.

Interested wrestlers should contact Coach Stan Pasiewcz Tuesdays or Thursdays 4 to 5 p.m. in the physical education center.

Brill's heroics help Bulldogs win first

After breathing a sigh of relief, Wauconda's football season does not get any easier as the Bulldogs travel to Montini Sept. 21.

"They have seven kids who they bring on the field for defense only. They are a very powerful football team," Wauconda Coach Bob Kasper said. Kickoff is set for 2 p.m.

The Bulldogs notched their first win of the year with a 14-6 verdict over Jacobs. Wauconda had to sweat this one out on this humid Friday night. Jacobs, which broke a 31-game losing streak last week against Grant, scored with 1:25 left on an 85-yard pass play from Tony Stanzi to Brian Carlson. An on-sides kick was tried, but Wauconda recovered and gained a key first down.

Prior to the exciting final two minutes, Wauconda's Randy Brill garnered the spotlight. The junior caught a nine-yard pass from quarterback Byron Johnson with 8:42 left in the third quarter for a 6-0 Wauconda lead.

With barely enough time to take a breather, Brill struck again two minutes later. He returned a Jacobs punt 45 yards. Johnson and Chris Baugher connected on a pass for a two-point conversion.

"He has been good the last two years on the freshmen and sophomore teams. He is one of the juniors who have to step up to make us a better club," Wauconda Coach Kasper said.

In addition to the punt return for a TD, Brill, at 5-7, 150 pounds, set up good field position for Wauconda on another punt return.

"It was confusion on our part," Kasper said of the Jacobs touchdown pass.

Vikings turn back gifts, fall to St. Louis' rally

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Look a gift horse in the mouth too many times and it may bite you.

That's the situation Lake County Vikings football team found itself in Saturday night at Round Lake High School. Some of the players and coaches sat on the benches along the Viking sideline, stunned at what just transpired. The Vikes led the St. Louis motion 17-8 as late as five minutes to go, but the Motion scored two touchdowns in the final two minutes to pull out a 21-17 win.

"We dominated the game from start to finish. We had seven turnovers and we should have had more than 17 points," Vikings Coach Russ Kraly said.

St. Louis remained unbeaten in the Midwest Football League thanks to a punt return by Terry Morrow. He fielded the ball at his 40, and escaped tacklers five yards later, turned a couple corners and the visitors had completed their stunning comeback with 20 seconds left.

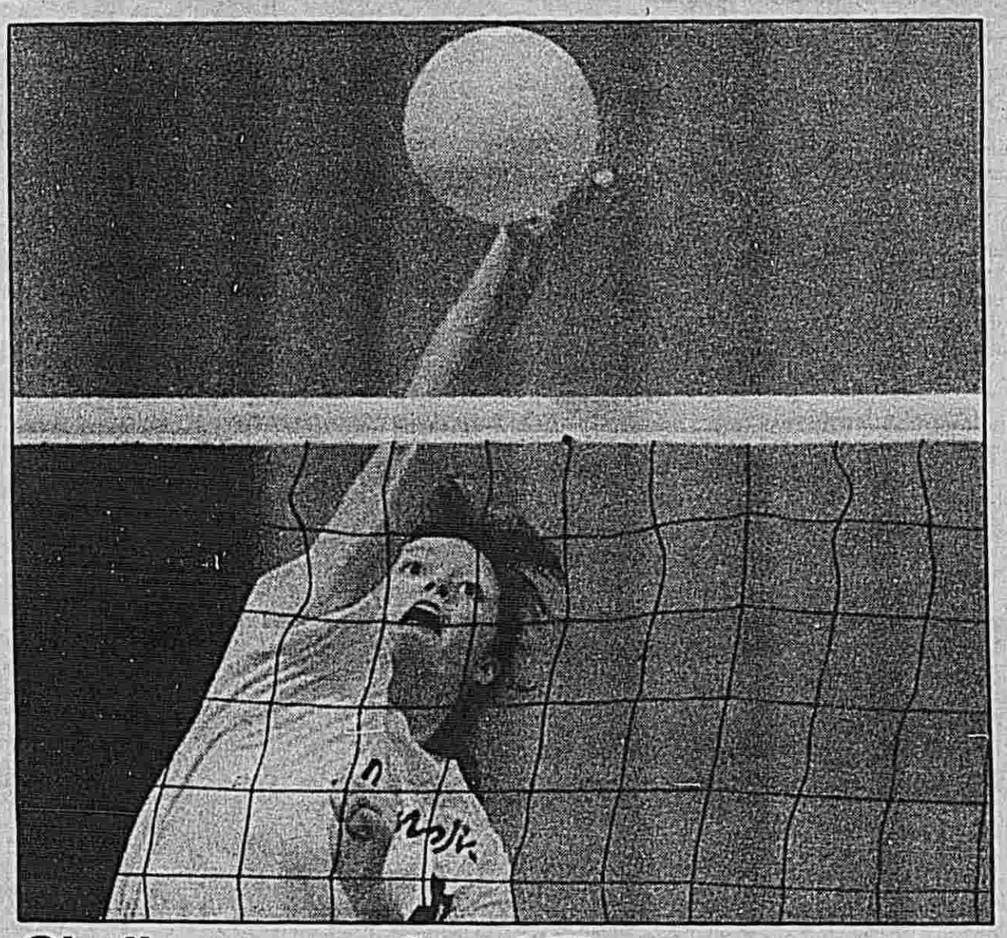

Trailing 17-8, St. Louis got an interception to set up their first score, a one-yard run by Tom Chavers with 1:20 left.

All the Vikings had to do was to gain a first down and it looked good when Bob Lachman gained eight yards. But a delay of game call forced the Vikes into punt formation, leading to Morrow's heroics.

The Vikings next travel to Milwaukee to face the Express at 7 p.m. at Brown Deer High School Sept. 21. The Vikes, 2-3, downed the Express 36-21.

The Vikings received another strong game on defense. Al Ploch recorded the defenses' second safety of the year for a 17-6 lead. Bob Akers and Steve Borzik came through with pass interceptions. Akers' run sent the Vikings fans into a frenzy for an 82-yard touchdown with 9:15 left.

The Vikings' only touchdown on offense came when halfback Brian Horn completed a 10-yard pass to wide receiver Jerry Nash in the first quarter. Tom Vergis added a field goal

CLC spikers treat fans to a volleyball thriller

Volleyball fans looking for a good nail-biter found just what they were searching for as the College of Lake County women's volleyball team finally got the best of Harper in a five-game struggle. CLC then improved to 6-1-2 for the start of the season by winning the Madison Tech tournament.

In the first game, after a back and forth struggle with the Hawks, the Lancers lost 10-15. The second game was another slow contest that provided several mismatches in the front line as the Hawks' Amy Longmore held off the Lancers for a 15-9 Harper win.

The third match gave the Grayslake crowd the nail biter as the Lancers rallied for an 11-11 tie. Karyn Becker helped the Lancers take the lead as she served then back into the game, for a 13-12 lead. The Hawks weren't out of the picture yet as they came back to tie the game at 14. The Lancers took the game 17-15 on a serve by Stephanie Seier. The fourth game also went beyond 15 points with CLC winning, 16-14 and the Lancers won the finale 15-10.

Caryn Alexander led the CLC attack with 46-for-47 with 16 kills. Of her 26 blocks, she had 11 kills. Becker had eight kills on 38-of-43. Terra Chomko and Sheila Osborn both had 11 serving points and Nikki Stolarik had 10.

CLC, which begins Skyway play Sept. 19 at Elgin and is at McHenry Sept. 24. opened the Madison Tech tourney with a 10-15 loss. The Lancers bounced back for a 15-5 win. The Lancers then beat Fond du Lac 15-6, 15-4, Richland 15-11, 15-8 and split with Sauk Valley, winning 15-10 and losing 11-15.

Carmel hopes to sing a different first-half tune

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

At halftime of the Carmel-Fenwick football game, the Fenwick the band played a medley of famous blues tunes.

Whether or not the Carmel Corsairs heard the band's performance at Oak Park-River Forest High School was debatable, but it would appear to have sunk in as the Corsairs tied Fenwick 6-6 for the second half. Unfortunately, the home team had earlier racked up a 20-0 lead as Carmel was singing the first-half blues.

"I don't know what we did in the first half that was different from the second half. That was the same team we were playing. I'll have to blame myself. We weren't ready to play," Carmel Coach Mike Fitzgibbons said.

Matters don't get any easier for the Corsairs, 0-2, as they open the East Suburban Catholic Conference season against Benet Sept. 20 at 7:30 p.m. Carmel is expected to have its top runningback, Jermaine Williams back in the lineup after he suffered a back injury.

Fenwick drove the ball right down the field on its opening possession Sunday. Runningbacks Brian McCabe, Chris Stephens and Jody Hart served notice early what kind of day this would be for the CHS secondary. A 27-yard gain by McCabe and a 10-yard run by Stephens helped set up a four-yard scamper by Hart. A run by Stephens was good enough for the two-point conversion and an 8-0 lead four minutes into the game.

A key pass interference call on Carmel kept a Fenwick drive going in the second quarter. McCabe, a captain, capped the 53-yard drive off with a two-yard TD run for a 14-0 Fewnick lead.

Carmel had the gusty wind at its backs in the first quarter but could not get the ball close to scoring range. Carmel punter Matt Schlatter did get off some boots which kept Fenwick pinned down, including a 57-yarder.

Jason Koswoski recovered a Chris Kent fumble on the first play of the second half. Stephens then tallied from three yards out as well as the two-point conversion for a 26-0 lead.

Then the Corsairs came to life.

Led by Kent's running and an interference call on Fenwick, the Corsairs drove 69 yards in eight plays. Quarterback Tony Longmire scored from two yards out with 5:44 left, preventing the Fenwick shutout.

Pumpkin Shortbread Bars

Crust

2 cups flour
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1 cup softened butter
1 beaten egg

Combine flour, sugar, and butter in large mixer bowl. Beat until crumbly. Press firmly into 15 x 10-1/2 x 1-inch jelly roll pan. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 15 to 20 minutes, or until lightly browned. Brush beaten egg over entire surface of crust.

Filling

3 cups (29-oz. can) solid pack pumpkin
3 eggs
1 2/3 cups firmly packed brown sugar
1 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. ginger
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. salt

Combine all ingredients; mix well. Pour over baked crust.

Topping

1/4 cup softened butter
1/2 cup flour
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Boston Brown Bread

Preparation time, 15 minutes; cooking time, 2 1/2 hours; yields 2 loaves.

1 cup whole wheat flour
1 cup rye flour
1 cup cornmeal
1 1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. salt
3/4 cups molasses
2 cups sour milk
1 cup raisins

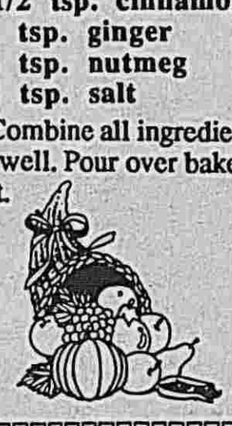

In a large bowl mix well the first five ingredients. Gradually add the molasses, sour milk and raisins, mixing all the time.

Liberally butter the insides of two clean 1-lb. (500 g) coffee cans. Pour in the batter. Cover each tin with a sheet of wax paper and a square of aluminum foil. Secure with string.

Stand the cans upright on a rack in a deep pan and add enough boiling water to reach halfway up the tins. Cover the pan with a lid, bring the water to a boil, then lower the heat and simmer for 2 1/2 hours.

To serve, remove the cans from the pan, take off the foil and paper caps, turn the cans upside down and remove the bottoms with a can opener. Then push out the loaves onto a bread board, slice and serve hot.

This bread is almost a meal in itself and rather resembles the old English boiled puddings, with which it no doubt shares a common ancestor.

CLC board approves bonds, tuition increases

The College of Lake County board of trustees voted Wednesday to approve the sale of $10.92 million in Life Safety and Working Cash Bonds and to raise tuition by just under 10 percent in each of the next two fiscal years beginning with the fall semester in 1992.

"The board approved the bond sales and the tuition increases to ensure that needed educational services will continue," said Board Chairman Richard Anderson.

According to President Daniel J. LaVista, the board's actions were taken as part of the college's long-term planning to provide needed educational services despite anticipated revenue losses as a result of the recently enacted state property tax cap.

The college's chief financial officer, Arthur Kent, estimated that the tax cap will reduce anticipated college revenues by at least $27 million between 1991 and the year 2000. He said that additional funds will be needed to maintain services and keep pace with the college's increasing enrollment, which has risen by 4 to 5 percent in each of the last three years.

Because the new bonds will replace old bonds, the existing tax levy rate will continue and taxpayers' burden will not increase, Kent said. The net interest rate for the bonds, which will be retired over a 10-year period, will be 6.039 percent. The bonds will be purchased and sold by Hutchinson, Shockey, Erley and Company, a Chicago bond underwriter firm.

Sale of the bonds at this time is advantageous to the college because interest rates have been decreasing in recent months, Kent said. He added that the college was further able to reduce its interest cost because Moody's Investor's Service had recently raised the college's bond rating from A-1 to AA.

The tuition increases approved with the bond sales will raise tuition rate per credit hour by $3 in fiscal year 1993 and by another $3 in fiscal year 1994. Along with the tuition increases, the board also approved a 15-cent increase in the student activity fee per credit hour in fiscal year 1993 and a 10-cent increase for the next year. Together, the increases will raise tuition and fees from this year's rate of $33.10 per credit hour to $36.25 next year and $39.35 the following year.

A MESSAGE TO NEWS-SUN READERS from F.T. "MIKE" GRAHAM

The ongoing battle between News-Sun management's Glenn Pfeil and The Newspaper Guild goes far deeper than an employer/employee breakdown over fair labor negotiations.

The News-Sun is not just another small business. It is the most powerful political voice concerning local issues, elections and candidates in Lake County.

The key word is "FAIR". In my 20 years of public life I was always critical of the News-Sun under publisher Richard Kennedy regarding its policy of promoting land development and generally criticizing land preservation.

But Richard Kennedy was fair. He gave equal opportunity to respond on the editorial page--not so with The News-Sun under Glenn Pfeil. In my view, the present News-Sun management has its political "darlin's" who can do no wrong and political step-children who hadn't better.

This political policy comes dangerously close to a controlled press, in my judgment.

The recent "get-even" treatment of state Rep. John Matijevich, Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson and the mean-spirited, non-professional past attacks of former County Board member John Balen, all of whom have spoken out in defense of The Guild, are just a few examples of News-Sun management's distorted sense of fair play.

As a somewhat controversial office holder, I always received a fair hearing from the reporting staff–and that is all anyone can expect...but it is also what everyone should be able to expect from the news media.

When the employees themselves are urging a boycott and cancellations of home delivery because they can't get a fair hearing, it's a sure indication that The News-Sun readership is also not getting a fair or comprehensive review.

I support the boycott–not only because of the employee grievances but, even more important, because management's unfair attitudes have spilled over onto their very influential editorial page.

Championship car races will end Wilmot Speedway season

Heavy thunderstorms which struck Toft Auto Racing's one-third mile clay oval Wilmot Speedway in Wilmot, Wis. on Saturday, Sept. 14, throughout the morning which coupled with an overcast sky most of the day and intermittent showers forced Toft Auto Racing officials to cancel the planned night of sprints, modifieds, late models and spectator stocks.

This sets up the final two championship race nights at Wisconsin's Clay Center of Speed. On Saturday, Sept. 21 will be Midwest Motorcoach of Gurnee Night featuring the season championship main events and feature challenges for the modifieds and the spectator stocks, plus a full program of sprints and late models. Sept. 21 will also feature the prestigious Twentieth Annual Collis A. Pearson Memorial Modified Race.

Toft Auto Racing's Wilmot Speedway and Lake Shore Harley-Davidson/Yamaha of Waukegan will also giveaway a brand new Yamaha motorcycle on Sept. 21.

The final scheduled race night is Saturday, Sept. 28 with the Miller Genuine Draft sprint and late model season championship main events and feature challenges, plus modifieds.

Grandstands open each night at 5 p.m. with sprint time trials at 6:15 p.m. and the first race at 6:35 p.m.

Qualified for the spectator stock feature challenge are: Rob Olson of Waukegan; brothers Bobby John and Raymond Hensley, both of Lake Villa; Jukka Myllymaki of Beach Park; Larry Surleta of Round Lake; Mark Ring and Dennis Kratz, both of Antioch; Scott Kuxhouse of Round Lake; and Bob Dodd of Beach Park.

Set to compete in the modified feature challenge are Tim Cox of Park City; Allen Winker of Kenosha; Gary Dye of Genesee; Dennis Spitz of Kenosha; Craig McKinney of Zion; Bill Dean of Zion; and Lenny Ostrowski Jr. of North Cape.

The modified championship appears headed to the wire with Winker holding a three-point edge, 1,015-1,012 heading into the final two nights. For the 1990 title, Mike Frost, who is competing just in sprints this season, beat out Winker by 13 points, 1,120-1,107 for Frost's fourth modified crown.

Winker is seeking his first-ever track championship in his twelfth season on competition. Cox won the track title in 1989.

In the sprints, the top six sprint car warriors are still mathematically in contention for the title. Heading the list is "The Brookfield Bandit" Bob Peterson with 1,140 points; 20 points behind in second is Dave Hanna with 1,120. Tied for fourth are Dave Moulis and defending champion Joe Roe of Johnsburg and Kenosha, respectively, with 1,111. In sixth is Darrell Dodd of Beach Park with 1,019.

In the late models, the rain helped solidify Skip Martin of Island Lake's championship drive. Heading into the final two nights, Martin holds a nearly insurmountable lead of 106 points, 1,004-898 over second place Mickey Wilson of Cary. The maximum points a competitor can receive in the late models is 68 with a minimum of 10. The modifieds and spectator stocks are the same, while the top number of the sprints is 76 in a single night.

Strong start for netters

When Warren Twp. High School girls tennis Coach Chris Cowel examined the strengths of her team and looked at the beginning of this year's schedule, things looked good.

But even the most optimistic Warren girls tennis follower may be surprised that the Blue Devils have started the season with five straight wins and are positioning themselves for a run at the top three in the North Suburban Conference.

"Looking at the schedule, Stevenson was the one team I was most worried about. I did not think we could beat then 5-0. It was the first time we had ever defeated Stevenson," Cowel said.

All matches have been won by Warren by 5-0 counts. The Blue Devils are at the Maine South Invitational Sept. 21.

Anita Holezy, in her fourth year on the varsity, leads from the number one singles spot. Erika Offerdahl, a freshman, has stepped into the second singles spot.

Back at first doubles are Rachel Borwick, a senior and Zita Holezy, a junior.

Warren has switched different players at second doubles, but Amy Wang and Amy Kazlowski have seen the most action. Kate Kennedy and Kim Kiupa have played third doubles and the duo record a win over Grant.

Against Grant, all matches were 6-0, 6-0 with the exception of second singles, when the Bulldogs won a game.

Village hikes pick-up charges

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Grayslake residents will have to pay more for garbage pickup and recycling but will receive more service as well.

The increase hikes the monthly charge from $8.35 to $12.50. It is the first increase in two years despite landfill costs which have increased 71 percent.

The new contract with Waste Management includes plastics as a result of a village survey. Beginning Oct. 1, two types of plastics that will be accepted are: HDPE (High Density Polyethlene) those items with a No. 2 logo including milk bottles, detergent bottles and orange juice containers; PET (Polythylene Terephthalate), items with a No. 1 logo such as one, two and three liter beverage bottles.

Also, a second clean-up day will be added during the fall. The same type of items which are taken in the spring clean-up will be taken in the fall. This includes residential rubbish and garbage, furniture, appliances, small car parts and carpeting. Construction material or building debris, large car parts, yard wastes, or large trees or stumps will not be accepted.

Curbside leaf vacuuming will be offered four times in the fall.

Senior citizens, 65 and older will be able to receive a discout on the cost to $10.80 and use a smaller 65 gallon container.

Grayslake Community High School honors a cross country runner, a golfer and soccer player as its athletes of the week. From left soccer player Travis Walkington, Zach Steffens, golf. Back row: Denise Dohner, girls cross country. Not present: Jake Battle, boys cross country.

10 reasons why you should maintain and increase your newspaper advertising when business is slow.

1. Whether business is good or slow, you have to get your share of whatever business is around. Cutting back your advertising puts you at a disadvantage at the very moment when you need an edge. Increasing your advertising gives you the edge.

2. In times of uncertainty, consumers are careful and a little reluctant to spend. They want to be sure before they buy; they want information about products, services, prices and values. The best source is newspaper advertising. Yours—or somebody else's.

3. Maybe you figure other retailers in your line are going to cut back their advertising, so its's safe for you, too. Right? Wrong. You're in competition for the customer's dollar with very other retailer in town, no matter what he or she sells. People have only so many dollars to spend and if they don't spend them for what you sell they'll spend them for something else.

4. There are more people working now than ever before. More women working, too, adding to the family income. People still need and want goods and services and will spend for them. There is plenty of business out there. Your competitors will be bidding for their share—and yours.

5. You can't do much about most factors in the marketplace: rent, labor cost, price or merchandise, what the competition will do. But one thing you do control is your own promotion. Remember that newspaper advertising is not just a cost of doing business. It's a proven sales tool that returns many times your investment in store traffic and sales.

6. Remember how long it took you to get started? Once you build up a business, you can keep it going with a moderate, consistant advertising program. But if you cut your advertising and lose your hold on the public's awareness you'll find it's much harder to build it up again. It's sort of like starting all over.

7. Your advertising is part of your sales force. Newspaper ads help to pre-sell the customers and help you close the sale faster. What saves you time saves you money.

8. You say your customers know you and for a while at least they'll keep coming in even if you don't promote? That's partly true, but shortsighted. Remember, one out of five Americans moves every year. So there's a steady flow of your customers out of your market, and a corresponding influx of new folks who don't know you at all. Tell them about yourself.

9. Here's a hard fact to chew on. Over any given period, a business that advertises below the industry average has sales that are below the industry average.

10. Advertising is "news" — about products and services. Your customers look for this kind of news in the pages of Lakeland Newspapers. In plush times, retailers often experiment with other media. But when the going gets tough, they concentrate their efforts in the newspaper because it provides an immediate payoff at the cash register.

CALL YOUR LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES. WE'LL HELP YOU PLAN A PROGRAM THAT WILL PAY DIVIDENDS IN ADDITIONAL STORE TRAFFIC AND INCREASED SALES.

The world of consumer electronics has captured the imaginations of Americans from coast to coast. Hardly a day goes by in any city in which someone isn't listening to their favorite music on a portable FM cassette stereo. Small computers, big advances

The biggest news in computers is actually quite small this year.

Technology has responded to the demands of our highly mobile society by creating a new class of personal computers (PCs) known as "notebooks."

Notebook PCs, which generally weigh about six pounds and are under two inches thick, "have put computing power within everyone's reach," says John Frank, president of Zenith Data Systems (ZDS), a leading manufacturer of notebook PCs.

"As the fastest growing segment of the computer industry, notebook PCs have extended the boundaries of personal computing for students, executives—all kinds of users," he says.

According to a recent study, portable computers are used away from the office more than two-thirds of the time, most often for taking work home or along on business trips.

These lightweight systems have become a campus craze as students and faculty discover the freedom and power of notebook computing.

Tiny notebook PCs have proven big on performance. With bright screens and keyboards with full-size keys, notebook PCs now can offer performance similar to many desktop systems. Some of these battery-operable systems even feature a 20-megabyte hard disk drive, which can store more than 3 million words, enough information to fill more than 1,000 newspaper pages.

Forest preserve to issue 1992 picnic reservations

With the passage of summer, thoughts of picnics have faded from many people's minds, but the Lake County Forest Preserve plans to revive them on Saturday, Oct. 19, the first day it will issue picnic permits for 1992. From 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., the public is invited to apply for picnic permits at the Forest Preserve's main office, 2000 North Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville.

"Picnic Permit Day has become a tradition at the Lake County Forest Preserve," said Andrea Moore, president of the Lake County Forest Preserve. "We usually issue over 100 permits that day for picnic shelters throughout the forest preserve system. We offer 20 shelters with capacities that range from 25 to 700. People that desire a specific location or date are encouraged to come in early."

Groups of 25 or more are required to buy permits. Shelters are available in six different preserves: Grant Woods near Fox Lake, Greenbelt near North Chicago, Lakewood near Wauconda, Old School near Libertyville, Van Patten Woods near Russell, and the new Half Day Preserve near Vernon Hills.

After Oct. 19, permits can be obtained at the Forest Preserve's main office during regular hours: 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., weekdays. For more information, call (708)360-6747.
